Will return to Iran

Helms in no danger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite controversy about his knowledge of CIA domestic spying, former intelligence chief Richard M. Helms is in no danger of being forced out as ambassador to Iran, congressional sources say.

"This subject I don't think has crossed anybody's mind," said one official, referring to Helms' diplomatic assignment. The official, who was present during Helms' secret testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Wednesday, added that "nothing basically was answered" at the hearing concerning apparent contradictions in Helms' previous sworn statements before separate Senate panels.

Another source confirmed that members of the Foreign Relations panel have given "no consideration" to seeking Helms' recall. Asked by reporters Wednesday if he thought he might be forced to step down, Helms replied, "I don't know why."

Foreign Relations Chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., said a censored transcript of Wednesday's closed session would be published soon to allow the public to judge whether Helms tried to mislead the committee in 1973 when he said that all attempts to involve the CIA in forbidden domestic operations had been "totally and 100 per cent resisted."

Helms was asked to square that statement with testimony given last week before the Senate Armed Services Committee when he said a CIA counter-intelligence unit was formed to analyze information on American radical groups in response to presidential concerns that domestic disturbances were influenced from abroad.

Several sources indicated that Helms' explanation was ambiguous.

"Some people appeared to be satisfied and other people didn't find that anything had been answered," a source said of the panel members.

A transcript of Helms' responses will be turned over to the select committee expected to be created by the Senate Monday to investigate the CIA, FBI and other U.S. intelligence agencies.

Simon asks increase in federal debt ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Blaming rising federal deficits, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon asked Congress today for a 22 per cent increase in the federal debt ceiling to $604 billion through June 30, 1976.

The current limit on government borrowing is $495 billion. However, that is a temporary limit that expires on March 31, after which the limit would legally fall to $400 billion.

Simon told the House Ways and Means Committee that the government will exceed the temporary limit of $495 billion on Feb. 18.

In urging Congress to boost the debt ceiling past the half-trillion-dollar mark for the first time in history, Simon said "there is a pressing need for immediate action on the part of Congress."

"One clear reflection of the trend toward big government and our incessant desire to spend more than we are willing to pay for has been the growth of the national debt," Simon said.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., the committee chairman, called the $604 billion figure shocking.

"This is a rather sorry record of budgeting. . . it looks to me like a fiscal system out of control," he said.

Rep. Herman T. Schneebeli, R-Pa., senior GOP member of the committee, agreed with Ullman.

Rep. Phil M. Landrum, D-Ga., a committee member, told Simon: "You make the request and then put the most masterful argument I ever heard for not granting it."

Meanwhile, 51 senators — including Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. — introduced a resolution to defer for 90 days an increase in oil import fees being imposed by President Ford.

Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana introduced a bill to require the President to establish mandatory gasoline rationing within 60 days.

Simon appeared on Capitol Hill as President Ford and key Democratic congressmen were rushing into a fast-developing battle over new oil import tariffs the President plans to proclaim later in the day in his campaign for American energy independence.

Ford, directly challenging Congress, declared Wednesday night he would sign the proclamation for higher tariffs on imported oil beginning Feb. 1 in a bid to curb American oil consumption.

The tariff hike is a key part of the administration plan to curtail petroleum consumption by increasing prices. Opponents of the hike claim it will fuel inflation without cutting consumption.

Simon blamed the rapid downward slide of the economy for the worsening federal revenues picture.

He said the federal government will receive $6.7 billion less in the 1975 fiscal year from individual income taxes than it had earlier estimated, and $3.7 billion less in corporate income taxes.

"As a result, federal deficits are mounting rapidly and are causing the current squeeze on the debt ceiling," Simon said.

The Treasury secretary previously had said he is horrified by the proposed federal deficits of nearly $35 billion this year and $50 billion next year. But he told the committee they are necessary in the current recession.

He said the proposed debt limit will include the cost of the President's new economic proposals, but would not allow for any new spending programs by Congress.

The President told some 1,000 persons at a banquet of the business-sponsored Conference Board: "I'm going to sign the declaration tomorrow to force action by the Congress so the country will have action and not limitations in the months ahead."

Just hours earlier, Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., new chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, called a special hearing today for action on legislation to force a 90-day delay in Ford's tariff plan.

"Time is really critical," said Ullman. He argued that the President's tariff plan would impose "a hardship on the American people." Ullman predicted Congress would decide to block Ford's plan.

Ullman said he expects to have a blocking bill ready for congressional action next week and he thinks there are enough votes to override any presidential veto.

On Tuesday, Ullman wrote Ford urging the President to "take no further action" toward imposing additional fees or tariffs on oil imports and to "await appropriate legislative action."

Ford had advised Congress last week he would use presidential powers to raise the fee on all imported crude oil and petroleum products, hiking tariffs by $1 per barrel Feb. 1, an additional $1

Fleming is upset with man's parole

Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming Wednesday expressed his dissatisfaction with the parole of a felon who has been previously sentenced on felony convictions on a number of occasions.

Joseph Wiley, 55, Kansas City, Kan., was paroled Jan. 13 after serving part of two, concurrent 3-year terms in the state penitentiary levied by the Pettis County Circuit Court.

Wiley pleaded guilty March 18 to two charges of stealing more than $50 in connection with the theft of $400 from the Star Service Station, Broadway and Engineer on June 11, 1973, and with stealing $4,339 from Larry's Apco, 1320 South Limit, on Aug. 27, 1973. The latter theft occurred while Wiley was free on bond on the first charge.

Fleming took "great exception" to Wiley's parole in a letter to W. R. Vermillion, chairman of the Missouri Board of Probation and Parole.

Wiley was listed by the Highway Patrol as admitted to the custody of the state

Lehr announces planned audit of Missouri Fair

An audit of the financial records of the Missouri State Fair, with particular emphasis to be placed on the escrow account established in connection with last year's International Village supervised by Connie Crouch, will be undertaken within 10 days by State Auditor George Lehr's office, it was announced Thursday.

Field work on the audit, to be performed by at least two staff personnel, is expected to be completed in one week, with the complete report tentatively scheduled to be completed some 30 days later. However, a spokesman for Lehr's office said Thursday, it may take longer to finish the report "if we run into something particularly big or involved."

Lehr Thursday said his decision to conduct the audit was in direct response to a request included in the November report of the Pettis County grand jury. The jury reported the State Fair was apparently deprived of $3,685 because of an agreement between Fair officials and Mrs. Crouch. Under the arrangement, Mrs. Crouch secured lessees to occupy space at the International Village, with the Fair receiving 70 per cent of money derived from the transactions. Mrs. Crouch could lease the space for any amount she could secure.

In its report, the grand jury stated "it was determined . . . that monies were shuffled between two different banks by Connie Crouch, and the exact amount of the actual money collected was impossible to ascertain."

"Said Connie Crouch," the report continued, "did deposit some of the receipts in her own business account, including some checks made payable to the Missouri State Fair." Mrs. Crouch later, the report stated, "supposedly transferred the funds to an escrow account which required the signatures of either (Fair Director) Wendell Smith or Connie Crouch." The grand jury determined "that all monies of this nature should have been deposited in the general revenue account of the state."

The jury prefaced its request for a state audit with the remark that "no direct evidence is established of a personal vested interest by Wendell Smith."

Smith was not available for comment Thursday. James Boillot, director of the State Department of Agriculture, Thursday said the department is currently conducting its own internal audit of Fair financial records. When contacted by The Democrat-Capital, he said he had not yet been informed of Lehr's decision and added that he possibly might have asked for a state audit "in a few weeks."

"If we had thought there was a need at that time, we wouldn't have hesitated to call on Mr. Lehr," Boillot said. "We thought there was a possible need of such an audit, but we wanted to get all the information first . . . We have not yet compiled it all."

Anti-abortion groups become active here

By MARY LOU VOSSMEYER
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Sedalians opposed to liberalized abortion were active Wednesday, participating in a public protest and taking steps to organize a service for women that provides alternatives to abortion.

In a "March For Life" Wednesday afternoon, about 75 persons paraded four times around the Federal Building, Fourth and Lamine. The march coincided with one in Washington marking the second anniversary of the U. S. Supreme Court's abortion decision, which pro-life forces oppose.

Brief remarks were made to the group by the Rev. Vincent Hoying, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. Jim Kane, pastor of the Maplewood Church, read from the Bible.

The march here was preceded by an inter-faith prayer service at Calvary Episcopal Church.

An organization "for pregnant women only" took a step toward establishing a local Birthright Center Wednesday night at a meeting at the Sedalia Community Center.

Mrs. Nancy Gruenloh, director, told the group of about 20 persons that Birthright is designed to provide emergency alternatives to abortion to women with unwanted pregnancies.

She said the group is a non-sectarian organization and does not claim to be a professional counseling service.

"We perceive ourselves as just a friend to talk to," she said.

She said Birthright volunteers often refer women to other agencies for counseling or psychological treatment. Though Birthright does not handle private adoption, it does have contacts to assist women wishing to put the baby up for adoption.

Mrs. Mary Jaybusch, Birthright director in Springfield, Mo., told the group how the Springfield Birthright Center works.

She said the organization operates almost totally with volunteers. Telephones and office space also are donated.

Though referral is a big part of Birthright, Mrs. Jaybusch said volunteers are urged to develop "a loving concern for the girls. This gives them a feeling of worth — to know they can talk with someone."

The Springfield Birthright Center also offers mutual assistance homes, which provide housing for pregnant women. Under this arrangement the expectant mother lives with a local family and shares household responsibilities.

A shelter home provides temporary housing, perhaps for only a few days, until the woman can make her own arrangements, Mrs. Jaybusch said.

Many Birthright agencies also seek the support of local physicians who will accept some referrals from Birthright, and nurses who volunteer time to teach classes on child care.

Mrs. Gruenloh said Birthright already has secured volunteers for legal assistance, a mutual assistance home and nursing services. She said Project WESCENMO, which provides rural pediatric care, also has offered its support.

Mrs. Gruenloh said the organization has a board of directors, but that Birthright cannot set up a center until it receives its charter from the international office in Canada.

Board members are Mrs. Gruenloh and Mrs. Rita McNally, co-directors; Mrs. Bill Cline Jr., Jim Buckley, William Dooley, Mrs. Ann Koetting, Miss Sharon Goth, Mrs. Roma Bass and Mrs. Therse Laslo.

Mrs. Gruenloh said the idea for a local Birthright Center was first discussed last September after she attended a Birthright

Danforth will determine constitutionality of plan

By BOB FICK
Associated Press Writer

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The attorney general will be asked to determine the constitutionality of a new plan for paying expenses of members of the House of Representatives, according to Deputy Commissioner of Administration Mark Edelman.

"If it's legal, we'll pay it," Edelman said. "But if there's a question about that, I don't want to stick my neck out that way."

Edelman made the comments in response to a threat issued by Senate Minority Floor Leader A. Clifford Jones of Brentwood Wednesday that he would file suit in the state Supreme Court to halt implementation of the plan.

The new system, approved earlier this week, calls for each of the 163 representatives to receive a $400 monthly allotment beginning Feb. 1 to pay for stamps, office supplies, stationery, a home-district secretary, telephone charges and "miscellaneous non-reimbursed expenses."

But the new plan does not require any public accounting of the use of the funds or that any unspent money be returned to the state. It does provide for a procedure to return unspent funds if a member wants to.

"It's damn outrageous," Jones said in an interview. "It's embarrassing to the whole legislature. I'm getting letters already from people who think the Senate is doing it too."

If the allotment checks are issued by Edelman, who as deputy commissioner of administration is responsible for certifying all state payments, Jones said he would file suit to halt the plan on the grounds that it is in direct violation of the Constitution.

The Constitution says no legislator can receive any compensation from the state above his salary as authorized by statute. Under state law, all legislators are given a salary of $8,400 a year, $25 a day to cover expenses when they are in Jefferson City for legislative sessions and 12 cents a mile for travel to and from their homes for legislative sessions.

"This opens the door for anything," Jones claimed of the new plan. "These guys could go off on junkies or anything."

In the past the House has paid for office operations other than the "miscellaneous non-reimbursed expenses" from a general House fund, the same system still used in the Senate.

While the revised plan only changes the method of paying for those expenses out of the general fund, it includes payment for unspecified "miscellaneous non-reimbursed expenses," which is not explicitly authorized by state law.

"If there's a legitimate possibility of a court case, we have to be even more cautious," Edelman said about issuing the checks. "We have to certify that the checks are legal. If they're not, that would go against my bond and I don't want to do that, thank you."

If the attorney general's opinion on the matter does not come before Feb. 1, Edelman said he was not sure what course of action he would take. Under the new plan, each representative will be responsible for the annual allotment of $4,800 and will have to account for it to the Internal Revenue Service.

Because of the fear that some members may deposit the monthly checks in their own bank accounts, House leaders have recommended that each representative set up a special bank account to handle only that money and the transactions involved.

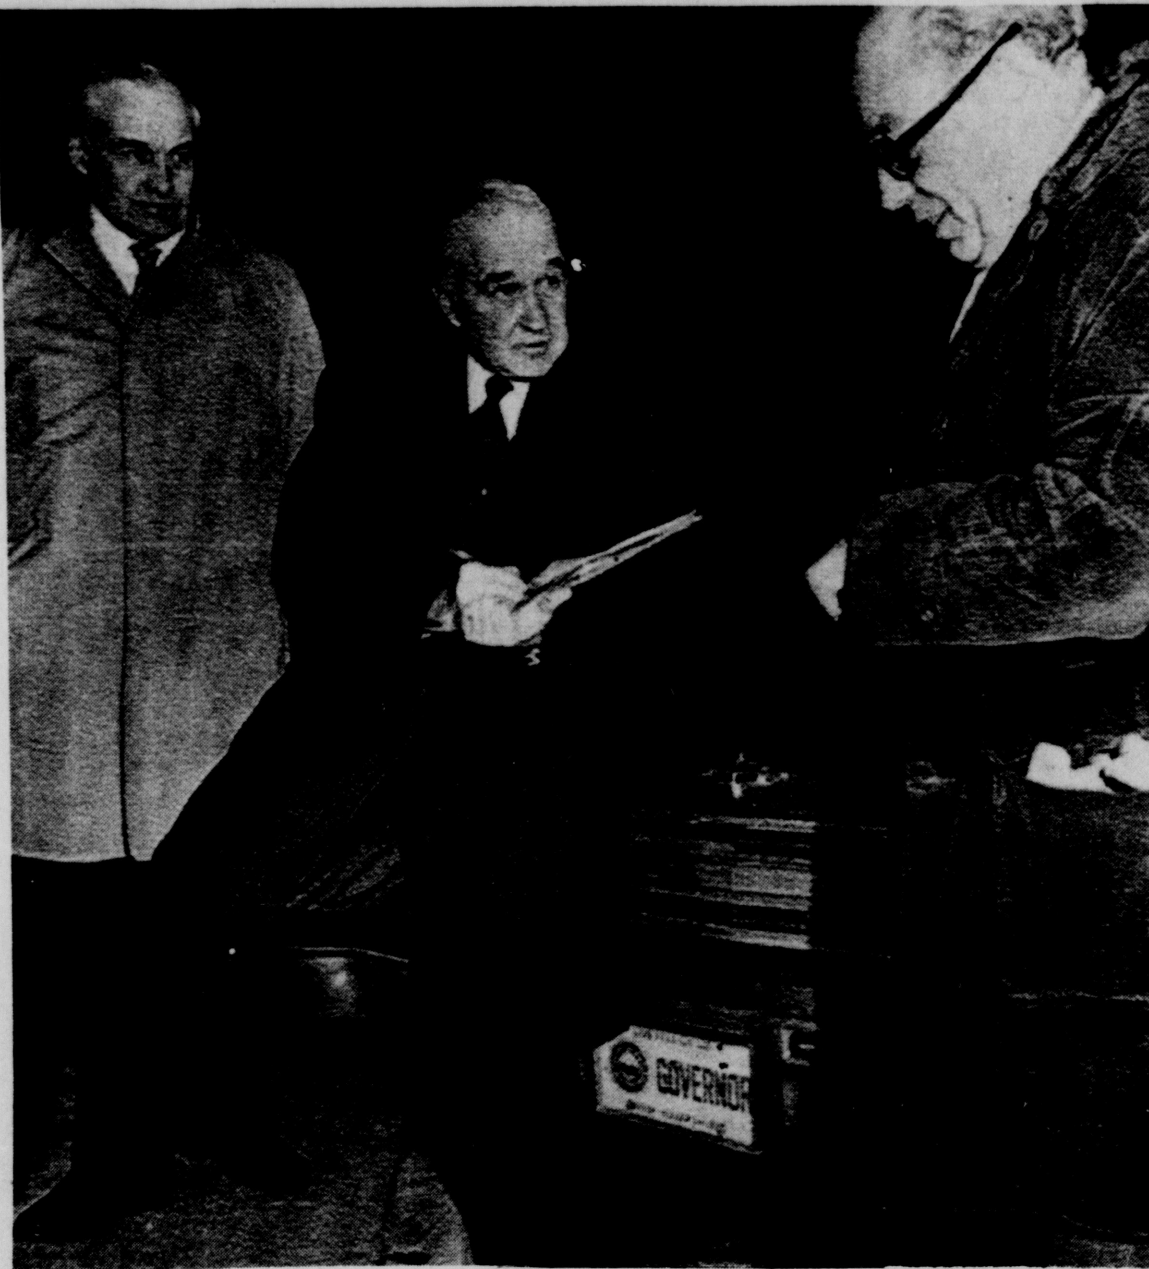

Extension Council vote set

Twelve persons are up for election as University of Missouri County Extension Council members and six Pettis Countians will be named by districts to fill this year's vacancies, according to Dr. James Houchens, Council chairman.

The Pettis County council is composed of 18 members, and 13 of them are elected, with the other five appointed by the mayor of Sedalia, the County Court and any farm organization with at least 25 members.

Voting throughout the county will be by districts and anyone 18 years old or older is eligible to vote. New council members take office March 1 and will serve two years. Ballots are being mailed to residents, but those not receiving a ballot may obtain one at the Extension Center, 1806 West 11th. All ballots must be returned and postmarked no later than midnight, Jan. 31.

The nominees and their districts are: District 1, Dale Dirck and Jack Curran; District 2, Jimmie Reid and Jack Fowler; District 3, Mrs. Eugene Brockman and Mrs. Betty Brandt; District 5, Mrs. Bill Pittman and Mrs. John Knaus; and District 8, Ed Walters, Ralph Huff, Mrs. Ella Virgil and Mrs. Linnie Kerr.

Roadside legislation

New Hampshire Gov. Meldrim Thomson, center, signs a bill at a roadside rest area in Salem, N.H., Wednesday night that could set up a special election of the contested senatorial seat for the state.

Republican Louis Wyman and Democrat John A. Durkin are but two votes apart and the issue is before a U.S. Senate committee. If the issue is not resolved this bill would call for the special election. (AP Wirephoto)

Albert may not seek old post as Speaker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., said Wednesday he has not decided whether to seek another term as House Speaker and left open the question of whether he will run again for the House.

However, an aide to the Speaker said later that Albert plans to run for re-election for the last time in 1976.

Albert said at a breakfast meeting with newsmen that the burdens of his office are becoming heavy.

Asked specifically if he would retire as Speaker at the end of the two-year term he is just beginning, Albert replied, "I have not made up my mind."

Consider tax and donor bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Committee work in the Missouri General Assembly focused Wednesday on bills to encourage potential body donors, extend a half-cent transportation tax and establish a no-fault insurance system.

In addition, the Senate heard the introduction of bills to prohibit hitch-hiking, regulate conference athletic activities of public schools, create a commission to study the state's junior college system and raise the salaries of police chiefs in large cities from $28,860 to $33,488.

The House Health Committee reacted favorably to the bill encouraging donors, which would require that a form appear on the back of drivers' licenses where a person could indicate if he wishes to donate all or part of his body to medical science.

Witnesses told the committee the measure would boost the number of kidneys and eyes made available for transplants.

Dr. Frederick Whittier of Kansas City added that the increased number of donors and transplants would decrease the need for expensive kidney treatments and could save Missourians $40 million over the next five years.

Chief U.N. delegate to launch action against terrorist groups

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The chief United States delegate to the United Nations says he's going to launch a new drive for international action against terrorism now that the French government is upset about the situation.

After more than two years of cold-shouldering U.S. efforts to get U.N. action against hijackers and other terrorists, France's pro-Arab government had a change of heart this week when Arab terrorists held 10 French people hostage overnight in an Orly Airport restroom. Interior Minister Michel Poniatowski called for "an agreed international position that would permit the punishment of terrorist-killers."

U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali said in an interview that Poniatowski's remarks "clearly reflect a growing revulsion in the Western world to the use of terror tactics to achieve political ends."

"We will be discussing with the French and other governments what steps we can take to give some sort of concrete meaning to this," Scali continued.

"As you know, this is an issue that we have faced before where other nations have declined to support those who believe that terrorism has no place in the civilized societies."

After the 1972 Arab massacre of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics, Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim put international terrorism on the agenda of the U.N. General Assembly, and the United States proposed an international treaty providing for the prosecution or extradition of terrorists who escaped to another country.

African and Arab delegations, fearful of a curb on liberation movements, sidetracked the treaty proposal, and the assembly set up a committee that met the next year and could not agree on what to do.

The 1973 assembly postponed debate on terrorism until the 1974 assembly. The 1974 assembly postponed it again, until the 1975 session.

"Any action which could be agreed to on an international level is something we could support," said Scali.

Sentence given to former bondsman

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Former St. Louis bail bondsman Donald V. Stewart has been sentenced to 10 years in prison for his part in an unsuccessful holdup attempt last February of a $120,000 police payroll.

He was sentenced to eight years imprisonment for attempted robbery and two years for carrying a concealed weapon. Stewart was convicted by a jury in St. Louis Circuit Court Wednesday.

Stewart was one of three men charged in a plot to rob a police courier outside the Jefferson Bank & Trust Co.

The scheme was exposed more than a week before the Feb. 21 robbery attempt when Police Chief Eugene J. Camp received a tip that a group was planning to hold up a patrolman as he made his semimonthly trip to pick up $120,000 cash at the bank for use in cashing police department payroll checks.

Instead of carrying the money, the patrolman left the bank with an empty money satchel. More than 20 policemen had surrounded the bank and were waiting when the robbers approached the patrolman.

Two suspects, Raymond Dale Jones and Guy Lester Burroughs, each pleaded guilty to attempted robbery and carrying a concealed weapon and are serving five-year prison terms.

No interest in SST fleet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal transportation official says the Ford administration has no interest now in reviving plans for an American fleet of supersonic transports.

John W. Barnum, deputy secretary of transportation, declared such a lack of interest Tuesday after a three-year study concluded that the present fleet of supersonic transports will not damage the earth's protective blanket of ozone.

Dr. Alan J. Grobecker, who directed the study, says the 16 Anglo-French Concorde and 14 Soviet YU114s now flying or scheduled for service will cause atmospheric changes so minimal they will go undetected. The two aircraft models are the only SSTs being built.

Grobecker said it would require 125 Concorde flying 4½ hours daily to cause a minimally detectable change in the ozone belt.

Plans for a U.S. fleet of SSTs were scrapped in 1971 following concern about possible health and environmental damage.

Sextuplet parents want to know why

By LINDA KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Charlotte and Alvin Lange wanted a family of two girls and two boys. But when Mrs. Lange failed to conceive, they said they felt it was "the end of everything, of all our hoping."

Then they learned that Mrs. Lange could bear children with the help of the drug Pergonal.

She bore quadruplets. None survived.

She bore sextuplets less than 13 months later. Only one survived.

"I ask why it happened to us, why twice?" Mrs. Lange said in an interview. "Alvin always tells me life comes with no guarantees. We're not too religious, but we both believe things happen because God makes them. Without that belief we'd be in trouble because there wouldn't be anything that could help us understand."

Mrs. Lange, 26, never saw the quadruplets who died shortly after birth Nov. 23, 1973. She has held only one of her 10 babies — Jolene Rene, the sole surviving sextuplet born Dec. 8, 1974.

Jolene is gradually strengthening her grasp on life with intensive care at Valley Medical Center here. The Langes say they have been told they may be able to bring her home by March.

"Children fulfill a marriage," Mrs. Lange said, looking spry and rosy-cheeked despite her recent ordeal. "Even with a good marriage like ours there's always something lacking. We felt the two of us would be able to give something to children, to provide a good home."

Mrs. Lange said she is considering taking a fertility drug again.

Her husband, a $12,500-a-year armored car guard, said they would rather try to have another baby on their own before they would consider adopting.

"We want more children," said Lange, 31, who was an adopted child. He said they have not consulted an adoption agency, but they talked with friends familiar with the process and decided it was too long and complicated.

Dr. Vincent Nola, Mrs. Lange's obstetrician, said by the time she is ready for a third pregnancy new techniques may be available to help avert another multiple birth.

"She is a healthy woman," he said in an interview. "There is no reason for her not to go through another pregnancy."

The last previously reported sextuplets were born Jan. 11, 1974, to a Cape Town, South Africa woman after a full-term pregnancy, and the last in the United States were those of the Eugene Staneks of Lakewood, Colo. Five of the Staneks sextuplets survived. Mrs. Stanek also used a fertility drug.

Charges no-fault is fraud on the public

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Proponents of a no-fault insurance bill said here Wednesday night that the bill should reduce liability insurance rates 15 per cent, while an opponent called the bill "a fraud on the public."

In a Missouri House Insurance Committee hearing, Chairman Walter Meyer said a provision in the bill required insurance companies to lower liability premiums at least 15 per cent.

But, James P. Landis, a representative of the Missouri Bar Association, said overall rates would increase from 17 to 42 per cent.

In calling the bill "a fraud," Landis said the public would "overwhelmingly reject" the bill if they understood it.

Rep. Meyer, D-Bellefontaine Neighbors, the bill's sponsor, said the overall car insurance rates wouldn't go down the full 15 per cent because there are no reduction requirements for the collision or comprehensive aspects on an insurance policy.

The bill would require all Missouri motorists to obtain car insurance and carry a card in their cars identifying their insurance policies.

The bill would permit damage suits for bodily injury only when the medical expenses exceed $500.

It would not permit damage suits for pain and suffering, mental anguish and similar charges.

Under the no-fault system, payment to an injured person wouldn't exceed $12,000 for medical and hospital expenses. An injured person could receive disability benefits up to 85 per cent of the loss of income with a maximum of $1,000 a month.

A spokesman for an insurance trade association said the bill doesn't do enough for the accident victim.

"You should set no (dollar) limits for hospitalization," said Henry Andree, spokesman for the American Insurance Alliance.

Andree told the lawmakers to restrict the no-fault provision to cases of serious injury or death, rather than the $500 threshold.

Farm roundup

Price of farm land drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Real estate experts in the Agriculture Department say superheated prices for farm land cooled off dramatically in the latter part of 1974, partly because many prospective buyers decided it was not as good an investment as it had been.

Even so, the department's Economic Research Service said Tuesday, the average price of farm real estate last Nov. 1 was up 21 per cent from a year earlier. The average nationally, the agency said, was $339 per acre, compared with $280 per acre on Nov. 1, 1973.

However, the report said, about one-half of the increase occurred before March 1, 1974, another benchmark date used to compare farm real estate values.

"Thus, the rate of increase slowed substantially from 2.5 per cent per month between Nov. 1, 1973, and March 1, 1974, to 1.2 per cent per month during the period from March 1 to Nov. 1, 1974," the report said.

Farm land values are expected to continue rising at about 1 per cent a month through March 1 this year, officials said. Thus, measured from March 1, 1974, it appears the average value per acre will go up about 15 per cent during the 12-month span.

The report said the slackening in farm land values is a result of several factors, including what experts called "divergent income expectations" of crop and livestock farmers who might otherwise be in the land market, tight credit and high interest rates.

Also, the report said, there has been a lessening of demand for farm land for recreational purposes, retirement homes and for urban development.

"While demand for second homes and recreational properties has fallen off, non-farm investors have turned to productive farm land as an investment alternative to urban real estate and common stocks, which have turned in a lackluster performance over the past year," the report said.

The report showed that the average value per acre of farm land as of last Nov. 1 was up in all states from a year earlier, including increases of 30 per cent or more in Delaware, New Jersey, West Virginia, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota and Idaho.

No average dollar figures on farm value per acre were included in the report for individual states, however.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm exports in the first five months of the fiscal year which began last July 1 totaled a value of $8.53 billion, up 7 per cent from the same period in 1973-74, says the Agriculture Department.

The figures, published Tuesday by the department's Economic Research Service, showed November exports were worth more than $2.35 billion, up from less than $2.1 billion for the same month a year earlier.

WARSAW — An Arkansas man was injured in a one-vehicle accident Wednesday morning on Highway 65 about two miles south of Warsaw, the Highway Patrol reported.

Douglas L. Buss, 21, Sturkie, Ark., was admitted for observation to Golden Valley Hospital, Clinton, after a 1971 International tractor-trailer he was driving overturned. The accident occurred at 8:15 a.m.

Buss apparently fell asleep at the wheel, and the rig ran off the left side of the road, struck two trees and overturned, the Patrol said.

The extent of his injuries was undetermined Wednesday night, a hospital spokesman said.

Heart attack rate declines

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP) — After a steady, deadly rise for more than 30 years, the rate of heart attack deaths among white men has begun to decline, a noted expert on heart disease prevention has found.

"I think we may be over the hump," Dr. Jeremiah Stamler of Northwestern University said Wednesday. He reported on a study of heart attack death rates since 1940.

"These findings have produced cautious excitement among heart researchers and others concerned with the mass onslaught of heart attacks in this country," Stamler told an American Heart Association science writers' forum.

"They suggest that at long last a start has been made in turning the flank of this great modern plague."

No single reason appears responsible. Instead it is a combination of factors that reflect basic changes in American lifestyles and improved medical treatment for heart patients and potential heart attack victims, Stamler said.

White, middle-aged men have been the most frequent heart attack victims. But women and non-white males also have experienced increases in heart attacks.

Between 1940 and 1968, coronary heart disease deaths rose more than 30 per cent in white men aged 35 to 64.

The sharp growth rate tapered off in the next decade, finally nearly leveling off at 463 deaths a year per 100,000 people for white men.

Researchers anxiously watched the high plateau in the death rates in the 1960s, fearing another dramatic rise might be around the corner.

But instead of the feared rise, a clear downward trend is seen — an 8.9 per cent decrease for white males between 1968 and 1972, the last year for which complete data has been studied, Stamler said.

The coronary death rate for white men is now 427 fatalities per 100,000 people, slightly below the 1950 level.

Similar but smaller death rate decreases have been found for women and non-whites.

One possible explanation for the downturn could be a reduction in smoking, particularly in men, Stamler said.

There also is evidence more Americans are being treated for high blood pressure, a major cause of heart disease.

Fleming

Department of Correction March 29, Fleming said. The Patrol's Jan. 17 bulletin noted Wiley's release Jan. 13, after serving approximately 10 months of the 3-year Pettis County sentence.

Fleming Thursday revealed copies of court records citing two previous felony convictions for Willis.

The superior court of San Diego sentenced Willis Feb. 24, 1948, to one to 10 years in the California state prison for grand theft. He was also sentenced to a lesser concurrent term for petty theft, a misdemeanor, at the same time.

On Sept. 10, 1970, Wiley was sentenced to one to five years in the Kansas state penitentiary for stealing over $50.

Although their records were not complete on details, a spokesman for the Missouri Board of Parole and Probation confirmed the above convictions for Willis, adding that he served 13 months, from October, 1970, to Nov., 1971, on the Kansas conviction.

The spokesman said his department's records also show three other felony sentences for Wiley: Louisiana, in 1942, two years; McNeil Island, Wash., in 1953, three years; and Oregon in 1961, two years. Conviction, charge and parole information on those sentences is not known by the board, the spokesman said.

The spokesman noted the board was "well aware" of Wiley's past record and had made a "careful study" of Willis' record before granting parole.

Wiley's parole records cite "excellent job and home situation," the spokesman added.

Flu bug continues to bite

The Port Chalmers flu variety is still at its height in Sedalia, with little to offer for flu-stricken patients.

If you have these symptoms: general aching, headache, nausea, diarrhea; chest, head and nose congestion, vomiting, a temperature ranging from 102 to 103 degrees, and a sore throat or cough—watch it, you have the flu.

"The best thing to do is rest, drink plenty of fluids, and keep the temperature down with aspirin," a hospital spokesman said Wednesday.

The flu, which generally lasts from two days to a week, can often lapse into pneumonia, Dr. A. J. Campbell Jr., 625 East 15th, told the Democrat-Capital. Dr. Campbell said his office had between 30 and 40 flu patients within the last week.

The flu is a virus which affects all age groups, Dr. Campbell said. He suggested that flu victims rest and eat little. If bronchitis symptoms do not subside within several days, contact a physician, he added.

Although Dr. Campbell says he has not sent any flu patients to Bothwell Hospital, a hospital spokesman said Wednesday night that the hospital pediatric wards are full of flu or pneumonia patients, and that "maybe one-fifth of the adult patients admitted within the last week" have either the flu or pneumonia.

Man arrested in break-in

A 24-year-old Sedalia man was arrested by police at 7:15 a.m. Thursday for breaking and entering at Pat O'Connor Chevrolet-Buick-GMC, 1300 South Limit, Thursday morning.

Following a doctor's examination Thursday morning, plans were being made at noon for the man's treatment at a mental institution.

The man's father told police that the man jumped from his father's car and ran to the business where he kicked in a door glass to gain entry. When police arrived, the man had started a new car on the showroom floor. It was believed that he planned to drive the car through the showroom window. No value was set for the damage.

Employment office taking applications for guard positions

The local Missouri Employment Security Office, 215 East Fifth, is currently certifying applicants seeking employment as one of the 40 additional guards to be hired for the state penitentiary in Jefferson City.

The hiring of the additional guards, whose salaries will be federally-funded under a special job-relief program, was authorized after the fatal stabbing Tuesday of a prison guard by an inmate.

Applicants for the position, which will pay $519 a month, must be at least 21 years old, able to pass a physical and be unemployed for at least 30 days. The position will also provide hospitalization program, sick leave and annual vacation.

Persons interested in applying should contact the local office immediately, it was indicated.

Willis bound over

Al Willis, 407 North Summit, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, was bound over to the April term of Circuit Court Thursday morning by Magistrate Judge Hazel Palmer.

Willis was arrested by Sedalia police Dec. 29. He is currently free on $2,500 bond.

effective March 1 and another $1 on April 1, for a total $3 boost.

As his committee began hearings Wednesday on tax cut legislation, Ullman said Ford turned down his request for a delay on the tariff.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who testified before the Ways and Means Committee, later defended Ford's tariff decision.

The President "made the decision, which is a correct decision, not to move the route of more government, rationing and allocation, which would be an absolute nightmare for the American people," he told reporters.

Meantime, five of the six New England governors decided Wednesday to seek a federal court order to block Ford's tariff action. New Hampshire's Gov. Meldrim Thomson opposed the court action. Some of the governors were scheduled to meet with Ford today to press their view that tariffs will cause particular hardships in their regions because oil is used extensively for home heating.

Elsewhere on the economic front: —The railroad industry reached tentative agreement with the Sheet Metal Workers Union, which had set Friday to strike five railroads. The carriers also announced tentative pacts with three other unions, the United Transportation Union, the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen.

—The Penn Central and the Erie Lackawanna railroads warned they will have to start shutting down in a few weeks unless Congress provides massive new federal aid. Both lines are in bankruptcy reorganization.

—Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., said he and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield will introduce legislation today requiring Ford to establish a gasoline rationing program within 60 days.

—In another Democratic reply to Ford's economic program, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the President's plan to rebate $12 billion of 1974 personal income taxes would not provide the quick shot in the arm that the economy needs.

—Treasury officials announced they must borrow about $28 billion over the coming six months to finance the antirecession program advocated by the Ford administration. They said it is the federal government's heaviest financing operation since World War II, and will require a substantial hike in the nation's temporary $95 billion debt limit. The government's borrowing could force up interest rates.

—The Labor Department announced nearly one million more Americans filed new unemployment insurance claims during the first full week of the year, signaling a big rise in the January jobless rate. The 970,000 new claims was a boost of 289,000 over the previous week and highest in any week since unemployment compensation was first paid in 1937.

Trailer is demolished

Fire demolished a vacant house trailer about 9 p.m. Wednesday behind the Dickey-Doo restaurant, South Highway 65, Pettis County fire officials reported.

No injuries were reported in the blaze which apparently started in the bedroom of the aluminum trailer. The trailer, owned by Kenny Palmer, Route 1, was insured for $1,200. The cause of the fire was listed as undetermined.

workshop in Jefferson City. A board of local citizens was formed and a charter was then submitted to the international office.

She stressed that Birthright is in no way associated with Missouri Citizens for Life, a state-wide anti-abortion organization.

"We want to try to be unbiased," she added.

Mrs. Gruenloh said Birthright volunteers will be asked to follow strict guidelines when dealing with pregnant women. Volunteers must accept the person and her decision, she said and urged against pushing a particular alternative on the woman. Volunteers also are asked to try to be unbiased and non-judgmental.

"We can't get into the moral aspect of this," Mrs. Gruenloh said. "We simply can't moralize."

Volunteers are required to deal with patrons on a one-to-one basis. Though records are kept for tax purposes, only the person's first name (or a fictitious name) is required.

Mrs. Gruenloh said probably one of the most important requirements for volunteers is confidentiality. Conversations between volunteers and patrons remain completely confidential, she said.

Once Sedalia's Birthright Center receives its charter, persons wishing to volunteer will be required to read three books explaining Birthright Center procedures and alternatives to abortion. They also will be given a two-day training session and a psychological test to determine if the volunteer is stable enough for the job.

Question drug use

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have a heart condition and use Digoxin daily and quinidine. The quinidine price is very high, having increased 50 per cent in a few months.

Your column indicates potassium helps prevent heart irregularities, which, if I understand correctly, is also the purpose of quinidine.

My question is, can potassium be used as a substitute for the quinidine? If yes, would the cost be cheaper?

Dear Reader — The potassium will help prevent heart irregularities if a person is low on potassium. It is sometimes prescribed when a person is taking digitalis medicines such as Digoxin and also for people taking diuretics to eliminate excess salt and fluid, or in the treatment of high blood pressure.

When the potassium level is normal, taking excess potassium will do nothing to prevent heart irregularities. By contrast, quinidine has a direct drug-like effect on the heart muscle fibers and changes their irritability in such a manner that irregular contractions or beats are less likely to occur. So while both are useful in specific cases of irregularity of the heart, they do not have the same actions and cannot be substituted at will, one for the other. I wish it were so, then I could simply advise patients to use more orange juice and fruits rather than taking quinidine and similar medicines when needed.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like to ask you a question. I am a lactovegetarian, using milk (low-fat), and lots of cheese, no meat or fish at all. I read an article by another doctor, which said that one important amino acid is missing, that can only be found in meat.

I am 54 and in excellent health, having started on this deal 24 years ago. I take a daily vitamin tablet and 800 units of vitamin E every day. What do I lack that I could get from meat and what should I take to get the missing amino acid?

Dear Reader — The protein in milk does contain all the essential amino acids — those that the body cannot manufacture from other amino acids. That, plus its calcium good food for growing bodies. I would think that you really have no problem as far as amino acids, protein or calcium intake.

Vegetarians as a group tend to live longer than their meat-eating contemporaries. Many of them tend to weigh less — eliminating or decreasing the problems of diseases associated with obesity, such as heart disease.

I am not strong on recommending all varieties of cheese in the diet because processed cheese may have 80 per cent of its calories as fat and half of that is saturated fat believed to contribute to heart and vascular disease. For this reason I usually recommend low-fat or uncreamed cottage cheese which is an excellent source of both protein and calcium without adding fat to the diet.

I don't think it is a bad idea to take one simple daily all-purpose vitamin tablet. Many people do not have adequate diets and such a practice may actually help in these situations. Vegetarians usually get all the vitamins they need because vegetables, fruits and cereals are major sources of vitamins. Most meat is actually poor in many of the needed vitamins. So you are not losing much there. The main contribution of most cuts of meat to the diet is really in helping to provide the daily intake of protein. (NEA)

Cuba proposes exchange

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba has proposed to the United States a prisoner exchange involving the release of an alleged CIA agent for a Puerto Rican nationalist convicted in the 1954 House of Representatives shooting incident, informed sources say.

Under the proposal, Cuba would release Lawrence K. Lunt, a Massachusetts native arrested in June 1965 on charges of espionage and harboring counterrevolutionaries, the sources said. Lunt, now about 50, was sentenced to a 30-year jail term in 1966.

In exchange for Lunt, Cuba has asked for the release of Lolita Lebron, one of four Puerto Rican nationalists who fired

At wit's end

Numbers don't lie

BY ERMA BOMBECK

The divorce rate has never been higher in this country. Experts put the blame on youth, feminine unrest and the high cost of living.

There is one theory that puts the blame on improper mating. Two people are thrown together who are emotional misfits. They have even devised a rating system.

For example, some husbands and wives are docile, uncaring, stoic people. They don't care if their own dog bites them, the shower runs cold, the paper is late or their insurance expires. These are the unflappable No. 1's. No. 1's should never sleep under the same electric blanket. They could burn themselves up and no one would know.

Some husbands and wives are independently strong. Each does his or her own thing within their own domain. She cooks. He washes the car. She launders. He changes fuses. She has a daughter. He has a son. No. 2's are dull.

No. 3's are aggressive personalities. They shout a lot and each feels he or she is the dominating influence in the family. They cannot hang wallpaper together, hang a picture, agree on the same TV channel or set up housekeeping without a live-in marriage counselor.

No. 4's are volcanic. They have varicose veins in the neck from yelling. They rarely listen and fight constantly over the children (each rejecting custody).

The No. 5's are the worst kind for a marriage. They're quiet, moody, sullen. No one knows what they're thinking. (Or for that matter if they're breathing.)

Now, this is important. NO MARRIAGE COMBINATION SHOULD EXCEED 6. A 4 and a 1, maybe, or a five and a 1, but no more.

I once knew of a 3 who said to her husband, "I would marry Dean Martin in a minute if he asked me," and her husband (a No. 4) broke her nose.

The worst case I ever knew was a 5 and a 2. They went camping together. He asked her if she would help him park the trailer. She said it was man's work. He didn't say anything. Finally, she stood behind the trailer shouting, "Turn the wheels the other way." (She didn't say what the first way was.) Then she would instruct, "You got this much more room." (Which meant nothing as she was behind the trailer.)

Have high time in courthouse

Then she would shout, "Pull over there and back toward me," (which also meant nothing).

Finally, the No. 5 ran over her foot and said, "I'm going out for a pack of cigarettes." He was never seen again.

Remember, if you can add, you can plan a happy marriage.

OAKLEY, Kan. (AP) — Marijuana smoke penetrated the Logan County Courthouse for a brief time.

The smoke sifted through the building when authorities attempted to dispose of 139 pounds of confiscated marijuana by burning it in the courthouse incinerator. Things didn't work out right.

After smoke curled through the building, the officers took the weed away and burned it in the city dump.

'Adopt a Student' program underway

Homes needed for Spanish youth

By KAREN FLANDERMEYER
Living Today Editor

Sedalia and area families have the opportunity to serve as host parents for Spanish students this summer.

"Adopt a Student," a program sponsored by the Spanish Heritage Association Inc. (SHA), will bring 15 to 42 Spanish students, ages 14 to 25, and their teacher-chaperones to the U.S. for four weeks.

Local coordinator for the program, Richard Wilson, 121 South Grand, said the Spanish students will arrive the first week of July or August, depending on local needs and available flights.

There will be no expense to the host families, other than providing food, shelter and a family environment for the Spanish students, Wilson said, and these expenses are tax deductible.

In exchange, the students will be given an opportunity to practice speaking English and learn how Americans live.

Except those at the college level, the students will attend conversational English classes three hours a day, three days a week. Students will be divided in three categories: beginning, intermediate and advanced, and local persons are needed to serve as teachers for these classes. "Knowledge of the Spanish language would be useful," Wilson said, "but is not required."

College students or qualified teachers could fill these positions, Wilson said, and the pay is good. Volunteer conversational English tutors will also be needed.

The college-age students in the group, Wilson said, will not attend classes but will be free to seek situations in which to practice English and learn about the U.S.

Wilson estimated he must have 60 families to volunteer as hosts for the 15 to 42 students that will be coming. One chaperone for every 15 students will accompany the students. The extra homes are needed, Wilson said, because "some families will move or take their vacation during the four week period."

Mrs. Barbara Cooney, Smith-Cotton French teacher, and Mrs. K. U. Love Jr. have already volunteered to help recruit homes for the students, Wilson said.

Transportation is an important aspect of the program, Wilson said. Because none of the students will be allowed to drive on U.S. streets and Sedalia doesn't have a public transportation system, car pools will be needed for transportation to and from classes and to give students access to distant parts of the city at other times. All excursions, however, will be financed by SHA.

Some of the possible activities planned for the students are: excursions to the Lake of the Ozarks, Springfield Zoo and Silver Dollar City. Attending a Royals baseball game after a day at Worlds of Fun is another possibility as well as get-togethers and picnics with area students.

Wilson said 20 Smith-Cotton students and their families have expressed an interest in the program. Most of the students wanted the Spanish travelers to come during August, so they could take in the State Fair.

All applications approved by the local coordinator will be sent to SHA, New York, in April. They will forward them to their Madrid office which will match homes and students.

The basic purpose of the whole program, Wilson said, "is to give Spanish persons a good impression of the U.S." The SHA has sent thousands of students to Ireland on a similar program and just a few years ago, began sending them here. Last year, 500 Spanish students traveled to the U.S.

Wilson feels travel to the U.S., with its huge wealth of cultural diversity, would be a richly rewarding experience for the Spanish students. "Moreover, this area is particularly suitable for the program because we're in the center of the U.S.," he added.

"The East Coast is just as crammed as parts of Europe, but these students will be amazed at the wide-open spaces and that everyone has his own house."

Emphasizing "it doesn't cost anybody anything," Wilson said persons interested in obtaining more information should call him at the high school, 826-1115, or at home, 827-3772.

Wilson's compensation for coordinating the program will be a four-week trip to Spain which he has already offered to any Smith-Cotton student who wants it.

"I'm doing it because I think it's a good thing."

Polly's pointers

TV table manners get low rating

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the terrible table manners used by people on TV commercials. The kids are taught good manners and then see these people set a bad example for them. — MARY F.

DEAR POLLY — My daughter's wooden high chair served as a seat convenient to our kitchen wall telephone and countertop. She is now nearly 5 and a big girl so a high chair in the kitchen looked a bit odd. I removed the tray, brackets and foot rest, antiqued it to match the kitchen decor and then applied an eagle decal to the back and still have my telephone chair.

This was so successful that I brought her "potty" chair down from the attic and painted it to go with her room. I sewed a bright-colored pillow for a seat so she now has an extra chair when little friends come to play. — CAROL C.

DEAR POLLY — I have no fear of having a prebaked pie crust shrink while baking as I have in reserve two different-size throw-away pie tins and have cut the center out of each of them, just leaving the raised rims. After dough is placed in regular pans, one of these cut rims is placed inside and is easily removed when shell has baked. They can also be used over and over. — CLOVER.

DEAR READERS — With the current energy crisis so much part of all our lives it seems timely to pass on some information from bulletins issued by the government and others concerning the problem.

Fireplaces are one of the least efficient ways of heating a room. With no fire and the damper left open 20 per cent of a room's heated air escapes up the chimney. Keep the damper closed when the fireplace is not in use. Many feel they can be more comfortable in a room where they sit for long periods of time if there is an open fire when the fireplace thermostat is turned down lower than they are accustomed to having it. It also is suggested that one reflect radiator heat into a room by placing a sheet of aluminum or aluminum foil against the wall back of steam or hot water radiators.

We are asked by our government not to set thermostats higher than 72 degrees. When beyond that point heat consumption increases greatly. Constant changing of the thermostat setting wastes fuel and money.

The U.S. Department of Commerce Bureau of Standards says "Each 1 per cent reduction in the thermostat setting will save per cent on fuel in cold climates and 3 per cent in milder ones. If the thermostat is set back 10 per cent for an eight-hour period at night you may expect to save 10 to 15 per cent on fuel."

When the sun shines into a room leave the draperies open and take advantage of the solar heat but otherwise closed draperies keep out a lot of cold. Always close them at night. If repainting radiators use enamel rather than flat paint. Keep radiators clear of furniture, rugs and draperies. Dust acts as an insulator so be sure radiators, baseboard heating, etc., are dust free. Warn the children against frequent opening and closing of outside doors. Close air ducts in seldom-used rooms and keep the rooms closed off. Wear warmer clothes indoors. If one's legs and arms are well covered one feels much warmer.

We are told that it is imperative that we use our heat energy wisely since 14 per cent of the U.S. total fuel bill will be to keep us warm and the percentage will rise as fuel sources are depleted. — POLLY.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — How can I remove black marks from the bottom of my electric iron? — MRS. E.B.

DEAR MRS. E.B. — If the marks on your iron are from burned-on starch, you might try using a non-abrasive cleaner on the cool iron, or mild suds or baking soda and a damp cloth. Wipe dry and wax the surface by ironing over waxed paper with the iron set at "Warm", then polish with a soft cloth. Silver polish is a non-abrasive cleaner you may have on hand. — POLLY.

Sweet Springs OYW chosen

Mrs. Forrest McKeage

SWEET SPRINGS — Receiving the Outstanding Young Woman (OYW) award Sunday from Jaycee Wives here was Mrs. Forrest (Betty) McKeage.

Mrs. McKeage was one of 11 candidates honored at the tea in the educational building of Immanuel Lutheran Church. Mrs. Melba Merrick, Jaycees Wives president, presented the award with an engraved silver tray.

The first OYW ever to be chosen by Jaycee Wives here, Mrs. McKeage was sponsored by Les Souers. She is a graduate of Santa Fe High School, Alma; St. Paul's College, Concordia; and Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Neb. She has taught kindergarten at the R-V School two years.

Nominees this year were Mrs. Wendell Eckhoff, Mrs. Mike Keltz, Mrs. Maurice Krause, Mrs. Donald Leach, Mrs. Scotty Stober, Mrs. Gerald Treece, Mrs. Lavern Viets, Mrs. Donald Vogelsmeier, Mrs. John Vogelsmeier and Mrs. Roger Zimmerschied.

Judges were Mrs. Fred Davis, Harold Douglas and Mrs. Roger Garlich.

Future family leaders

Two area students have received the 1974-75 Family Leader of Tomorrow awards at their schools. They are, left, Miss Barbara L. Gertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gertz, 1502 East 12th, from Smith-Cotton High School; and Miss Elizabeth (Beth) Ann Bohon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Bohon Jr., Route 2, from Smithton R-VI High School. They won the honor by competing with other seniors in a written knowledge and attitude examination and are now eligible for state and national honors. The annual educational scholarship program is sponsored by General Mills, Inc.

Ann Landers

Husband needs taming, his wife needs rest

Dear Ann Landers: I read the letter sent in by "Relieved" and it blew my mind. If she considers her husband a sex maniac, she should have mine.

"Relieved" complains about three times a week. What would she do if he demanded sex three times a day and more on weekends? I work in Fred's business and he is one of those husbands who insists on having lunch at home every day.

We have a teenager in the house and I can't hide the boy in a closet. It's all very embarrassing. Fred is after me morning, noon and night. Is there a solution to this problem? — Tired

Dear Tired: I'm surprised you had enough strength to pick up a pen and write to me. Your husband should see a doctor and get some drugs to tame his libido. Something in his system is working overtime.

No woman should be expected to satisfy such a voracious sexual appetite. "Ready Freddy" needs professional help — and you deserve a rest, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: My aunt took a course in palmistry (it cost her $200). She became fascinated when a woman read her palm and told her several things about her past that were true.

Aunt Belle is especially interested in lifelines. She was told by the palmist that her lifeline is unusually long and that she will probably live to be at least 100. Will you please tell me if anyone has ever done any scientific research on this? Or is it all phony baloney? — Ink-Quizzitive

Dear Ink: The only study I am aware of was done by two professors at the University of Washington in Seattle. Drs. M. E. Wilson and L. E. Mather actually measured the lifelines of 51 cadavers. They used computers to calculate the variables, such as body size.

The research of these physicians revealed that there is no connection whatever between longevity and the length of a person's lifeline. Several of their oldest "subjects" had the shortest lifelines. (Sorry about Aunt Belle's $200.)

Dear Ann Landers: For years my husband has provided well for his family. Very well, in fact. We have two cars, a vacation home, and all the extras that go with affluence. Add to this lots of love and wonderful kids. It's like a Cinderella story.

In spite of this I feel as if I'm going to explode. My husband's income is not all honestly earned. He has a job that requires out-of-town work, for which he gets paid overtime.

The money he collects is far in excess of the time he puts in. In other words, he's padding the sheet. I know of instances when he has collected overtime for "out-of-town" work when he was right at home. He also uses his car for travel and is reimbursed for trips he doesn't make.

I'm living in style but my conscience is giving me hell. I've told him how miserable I am but he chops me off in mid-sentence. I know he won't stop. You're the only one I can turn to. Help me, please. — Afraid

Dear Afraid: You and you alone must decide if you want to continue to catch hell from your conscience or give him the choice: Either he can go straight or continue on his crooked way alone.

A non-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1440, Elgin, Illinois 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pork, beef rise sugar on decline

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Pork and beef prices generally fluctuated upward last week, but sugar prices declined for the fifth straight week, according to a survey of food prices by the Missouri Farm Bureau.

Otherwise, prices for poultry, milk, eggs, bread and potatoes generally remained stable, the survey of average prices for selected food items at 50 grocery stores across the state showed.

Sugar prices were down by 8 cents for a 10-pound bag to $5.34.

Blade roast was the big beef bargain, with the price per pound dropping by 14 cents from the week before to 86 cents per pound last week.

In addition, sirloin steak was down by 2 cents per pound to $1.64 and ground beef dropped a penny to 78 cents per pound.

But rib steak was up by 15 cents per pound to $1.49. T-bone steaks rose 10 cents a pound to $1.82, round steak jumped 2 cents a pound to $1.44 and arm roast was up a penny to $1.09.

Ham shank portions registered the only pork price cut, dropping by 3 cents to 80 cents per pound, and pork steaks remained stable at $1.07 per pound. Butt portions were up 11 cents per pound to 97 cents, center cut pork chops increase 6 cents per pound to $1.60 and pork blade roast jumped by 2 cents per pound to $1.03.

Other prices last week were whole chickens for 52 cents a pound, milk $1.46 a gallon for whole and $1.37 for 2 per cent, extra large eggs 81 cents a dozen and medium eggs 73 cents a dozen. All were down one cent from the week before.

Bread was up one cent to 64 cents for a 1½-pound loaf.

Grade A large eggs and red potatoes remained unchanged from the week before, with the eggs registering 78 cents a dozen and the potatoes $1.02 for 10 pounds.

When in early 1900 volcanic Mont Pelee erupted on the island of Martinique in the West Indies, all the inhabitants of the city of Saint Pierre were killed except for one man. He was safe in the dungeon of the city jail.

Uncle Sam to celebrate birthday in a big way

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY
Associated Press Writer

From the surface of Mars to the shores of Tahiti, the United States is celebrating its 200th anniversary with what promises to be the biggest, not to say most unusual, birthday party ever.

An American Revolution Bicentennial Administration catalogue lists nearly 3,000 observances, productions and projects that have ARBA sanction and the organization promises more.

Among them is event 001975, the soft landing of an unmanned Viking space craft on Mars on July 4, 1976. Event 000354 is a more modest but still ambitious journey: a crew of 24 expects to complete a two-month paddle from Hawaii to Tahiti in a wooden Polynesian canoe the same day Viking touches down.

To be sure, there is a surplus of more conventional activity. Restorations for example. It seems that nearly anything that stands still, and several that don't, are preservation candidates.

Among the things Americans are reclaiming: railway depots, trains, log cabins, taverns, inns, villages, forts, covered bridges, cemeteries, missions, mansions, adobes, jails, churches, barns, meeting houses, townhouses, opera houses, school houses, milk houses, round houses, stagecoach houses, fire houses, an Indian winter pit house and George Washington's summer house.

Also: a company store, a water wheel, a mint, a market, a canal, a hardware store, a blacksmith shop, Washington's grist mill, a pipe organ, paintings, a corn crib, sailing ships and an island.

Hundreds of books and pamphlets will be published, mounds of film shot, miles of markers erected, scores of symposia symposied, forests planted (1,776 trees in Brea, Calif. alone; dramas written, recollections recorded, exhibits exhibited, and battles restaged.

And, by a rough count, there are enough fire and drum corps being outfitted to fill Carnegie Hall.

It being a patriotic occasion there is heavy emphasis on flags. A South Dakota group wants to assist each farm family in the state to fly the flag every day. In frozen Alaska, a Seward group is erecting a "free standing concrete monument" of the state's ensign.

Perhaps the most encompassing flag project is in New York City. It's described as: "The Flag as art. Open competition, exhibit in any medium, earthworks, planting a flag of flowers, wrapping public buildings in bunting."

The stress factor

Add "Type A behavior" to smoking, obesity, high cholesterol and blood pressure as one of the main causes of heart attacks.

So say two heart specialists, who spoke this week with science writers at a Florida forum sponsored by the American Heart Association.

Dr. Meyer Friedman and Dr. Ray Rosenman say the Type A individual—hard driving, aggressive and competitive—is more prone to develop heart disease and hardening of the arteries than more relaxed types—B's and C's.

"The concept is no longer folklore but hard fact, supported by dozens of studies all over the world," said Rosenman, who maintains that the "stress factor" is the missing ingredient that helps explain the epidemic of coronary deaths that is characteristic of modern life.

He says 90 per cent of Americans under 60 who have suffered heart attacks are Type A personalities. While such persons may not be able to change their personalities, they can change their patterns of behavior, said Rosenman.

"Slow down and live" sounds like good advice, and not just for motorists.

Money and politics

Sen. William J. Cason was in town Tuesday night to make one of his first speeches since declaring for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Cason sounded the theme that he is the "working man's candidate," as opposed to several moneyed Republicans whom he named, including Gov. Christopher Bond. Only those who have worked with their hands can understand the working man's problems, Cason inferred.

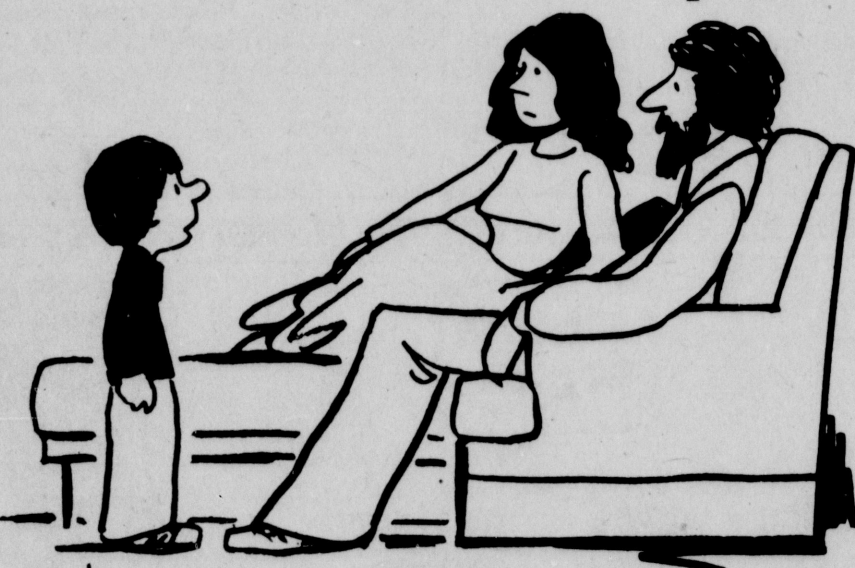

The history of Cason's own party, however, fails to bear this out.

Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, under whose Democratic administrations liberal domestic policies flourished, were millionaires all.

Even the founder of the Democratic Party, Thomas Jefferson, whose name Cason invoked, was himself a millionaire by colonial standards.

Perhaps the notion that money, per se, dictates one's political convictions is a bit of an oversimplification.

Amazon is Greek for "without breast." Greek mythology told of a race of female warriors living without men, sending away or killing any sons born. The women had their right breasts burned off so they could more easily draw the bow. The word is used today when speaking of brawny women.

Yesterday, while Judge Wm. Cannaday of the Grange Store was walking around the steam corn sheller, he got a little too close to the machinery, and his coat tail was caught by one of the belts. While the belt pulled one way, the Judge ... pulled the other, and the result was that his coat was literally torn from his back. The Judge thanks fortune that he got off that easy, for it was a narrow escape from death.

Art Buchwald

Living it up from the tax cut

WASHINGTON — The big question everyone is asking is, "Can President Ford's tax cut turn the economy around?" Will the money he hopes to return to the taxpayer prime the pump of consumer spending and bring about the prosperity we all dream about?

I went out to poll several wage earners right after President Ford laid out his economic message and, if my sampling is correct, 1975 could be one of our best years.

Buchwald Horace Cutweiler, a bus driver who stands to receive a tax rebate of $53, was the first one interviewed.

"What do you plan to do with your tax cut?"

"I'm going to take my family to Palm Springs for the winter."

"That's marvelous," I said.

"Originally, I was going to buy gold with it, but when you get a tax cut of this proportion you might as well enjoy yourself."

Mrs. Myrtle Oppenheim said that she and her husband figured to get back $120. She told me her husband, a fireman, wasn't home.

"Where is he?"

"He's at the boat show looking at Chris-Crafts. We've always wanted a yacht, but we never could afford it. But when we read about the rebate, we decided we wouldn't get the opportunity again. I told him not to buy anything that would require more than a crew of three."

Roger Montalban, a waiter, was not aware that he would get back $103 for 1974. At first he didn't believe me, but when I read him President Ford's message he became excited and went up to the manager of the restaurant and said: "I quit."

The manger was taken aback. "But, Roger, what are you going to do?"

"I am going to open my own French restaurant. With the tax cut, people are going to demand fine French food again and it would be stupid for me not to go into my own business at this time."

Exra Donado, the night porter in my building, stands to gain $37, but he said the windfall would not change his lifestyle. "I might go back to Sorrento to see the old country, and I'd like to buy my parents a condominium in Fort Lauderdale, but I will continue working at my job. I assure you the money will not go to my head."

Ellie Cobey, a secretary, thought she might get back as much as $195. She refused to say what she was going to do with the money. But while we were talking she received a telephone call from Gstaad, Switzerland. I overheard the conversation. "Tell Miss Taylor I just came into some money and I am now in a position to buy her diamond ring. I will be sending Harry Winston over to appraise it. If it's everything Mr. Burton says it is, I'm sure we can conclude the deal."

The only one I met who said he was not expecting a tax rebate was Lyndon Littlefield, who makes $300,000 a year.

"Why won't you get a refund?" I asked him.

"Because I have all my money in tax-free bonds, and I don't have to pay any taxes for 1974. I think it's very unfair of the President to give everyone in the United States tax rebate except those who don't pay taxes. After all, we're people, too."

"It was probably an oversight they'll correct in the final legislation."

"They better," he said, "because my wife and I were counting on the money to put in a new tax shelter we would like to build."

c. 1975, Los Angeles Times

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — There has been the usual exchange of political potshots as the conservative Republican in the White House and the liberal Democrats on Capitol Hill draw up the battle lines for 1975.

But behind the scenes, the leaders of both parties are demonstrating an unusual willingness to work together for the good of the country.

President Ford has told subordinates that he is willing to compromise with the new Congress. He has pointed out, as a simple political reality, that the White House has lost power to Congress in the wake of Watergate. He wants his subordinates, therefore, to cooperate with Congress.

In the same spirit, House Speaker Carl Albert has urged Democratic leaders to put the national welfare ahead of their political warfare.

A tacit understanding has been reached that the President won't try to embarrass the Democrats on the spending issue, and the Democrats will work with him to find a formula that will hold down spending yet stimulate the economy.

The hostility of the Nixon era has been replaced by a determination to disagree without rancor and to seek workable solutions.

Footnote: The adviser who always has the last word with President Ford is his wife Betty. She read over the final draft of his latest TV address, for example, and disapproved of the word "stagflation." It was an "ugly word," she said, which only the economists understood.

The next morning, the President asked his staff to delete all references to "stagflation" from the speech. "Betty didn't like it," he explained sheepishly.

INFLUENCE FOR SALE: The lessons of Watergate made little impression upon former Congressman Roger H. Zion, R-Ind., who wasted no time after his defeat setting up business as a lobbyist.

Before he left office, Zion sent out a solicitation letter to his congressional stationery to prospective clients touting his "20 years in the pharmaceutical industry" and his Capitol Hill connections.

"Since I will continue to be active in the Congressional Prayer Breakfast group, in the House gym, the Members Dining Room and on the House floor," Zion wrote, "I will maintain contact with my good friends who affect legislation."

He promised those who could use a good influence peddler that he "would unravel red tape, open doors, make appointments, work with the Administration or government agencies, influence legislation and assist in any other consulting service required."

Footnote: The former congressman is traveling and couldn't be reached for comment. A former aide hung up the phone on us.

WATCH ON WASTE: While most Americans are struggling to make ends meet, the Air Force is pouring $2.6 million into a project that they already have determined is unnecessary.

Here are the startling details:

In 1973, the Air Force was granted the funds to build a new electronics research laboratory in Rome, N.Y. But the Strategic Air Command put a hold on the project. The SAC commanders feared it might be too vulnerable to attack from nuclear submarines.

Later, they were persuaded to change their minds and to grant their approval. Construction began last August.

But in November, the Air Force abruptly announced that it was moving its research facilities to Massachusetts and Ohio. This could make the Rome facility surplus.

But it was too late to stop construction. The materials already had been ordered, and the penalty for halting the project would be $1.8 million. So the workmen are still at it, hammering the facility together, although there is no longer any need for it.

The Air Force maintains that the move will save $29.8 million over a five-year period. On the contrary, Rep. Don Mitchell, R-N.Y., who represents the Rome area, contends the move will cost the taxpayers $70.2 million over five years.

But one thing seems certain: The Air Force will wind up with a $2.6 million installation it doesn't want.

Cincinnati benefits by reform

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

CINCINNATI — One of the country's most remarkable political organizations observed its golden anniversary here the other night. This is the Charter Committee of Cincinnati which for 50 years has been contributing mightily to the cause of good municipal government.

There are lessons in the Committee's experience that may be of wide application. The first of these is that reform is hard work; the second is that you have to keep at it. Most reformers, in my observation, excel in the sprints and hurdles; they are not much on the long-distance events. The Cincinnati Charterites, by contrast, have been running for half a century and don't seem to be winded yet.

The story began in the period just after World War I, when Cincinnati was struggling under the rule of a Republican machine controlled by Rudolph Hynicka. He has been described as "a man primarily distinguished by his nondedication to the job." Hynicka's custom was to boss the city by absentee orders from New York, where he ran a string of burlesque houses.

In November of 1921, an especially outrageous piece of bossism, involving a new gas contract, at last provoked the city's nonpolitical leaders into action. They formed a committee to petition for a referendum on a new charter. To the amazement of the local machine ("Republicans Stunned" read a headline of the day), the blue-stockings mobilized manpower and womanpower. In the general election of 1924, they carried the new charter by runaway margins. Suddenly Cincinnati had a new nine-member Council, and the nonpartisan Charterites had become a political power.

The story might have ended there. In the view of the Charter leaders, there was no such thing as a Republican way to collect garbage or a Democratic way to provide a water supply. They proposed to be above all that. But they swiftly discovered that reform movements will fail unless political amateurs turn themselves into political professionals. Such an involvement isn't easy for civic-minded business leaders, whose custom is to give at the office. In Cincinnati, the reformers got out and grubbed for votes.

They have had their ups and downs. At one low point, only a single Charterite — Charles P. Taft, brother of the late senator — was serving on City Council. Today the Charterites hold four seats and work in coalition with three Democrats. The fruits of their labors are evident in a city that boasts a flourishing downtown and ranks among the pleasantest metropolitan areas in the country.

Comparisons, they say, are odious, and one hesitates to pursue a comparison between Cincinnati and Cleveland, but the contrasts are striking and may even be instructive. Cleveland still rocks along with a City Council ruled by King Caucus. With a population of some 750,000 (about 38 per cent black), Cleveland is much larger than Cincinnati, with 450,000 residents (28 per cent black). Yet size and racial characteristics would not appear wholly to account for Cleveland's problems.

During the first nine months of 1974, Cleveland reported 206 murders to Cincinnati's 41 — three times the murder rate. Cleveland regularly reports double the robbery rate of its southern sister. In a recent Harper's magazine analysis of the nation's 50 largest cities, Cincinnati ranked 24th, with notably high marks for health care and library services. Cleveland ranked 43rd. Certain East Side neighborhoods in Cleveland are dangerous jungles by night. Cincinnati has its high-crime neighborhoods, too, but nothing to compare with Cleveland's.

Are these contrasts a product of different civic leadership? It seems a fair surmise that this is one element in the Cincinnati story. Wherever the explanation lies, Cincinnati provides a heartening example of a major city that has made political independence work.

Studies progressing on new Amtrak route

By BRIAN B. KING
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak and private railroad inspectors have completed about 20 per cent of the track-and-facilities studies for the experimental passenger-train route that will run from Washington, D.C. to Kansas City and Denver.

Those inspections are necessary preliminaries to decisions by Amtrak and the railroads involved on what capital improvements are needed before service can begin.

After Amtrak, the National Rail Passenger Service Corp., makes its own assessment, a spokesman said Tuesday, the agency will decide what capital improvements it will fund and include in its budget presentations to Congress.

The 10-week inspection has been divided into three sections, the spokesman said. Track and facilities from Washington to Cincinnati have been inspected already in the two weeks spent so far, he said.

Under way are checks between Cincinnati and Indianapolis, to be followed by inspections between La Junta, Colo., and Denver.

No starting date or schedules can be set until after funding decisions are made, the spokesman said.

He noted that the route was the last of three experimental lines designated last fall by outgoing Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar.

The first, between Norfolk and Cincinnati, is scheduled to start operation March 25, he said.

The second, from Boston to Chicago through Cincinnati, is due to begin service sometime in the fall, with the Kansas City-Denver route following several months after that, he said.

The designated route for that train would take it from Washington to Pittsburgh Pa.; Cincinnati; Indianapolis; St. Louis; Chillicothe, Mo.; Kansas City, Topeka, Kan.; Newton, Kan.; La Junta, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, Colo.

Disclosing parts of the financial study that Amtrak made, a Federal Railroad Administration spokeswoman said estimated annual revenues were placed at $3.1 million with an average per-trip ridership along the whole route of 150 passengers, or losses of $400,000 with 100-person ridership and $2.1 million with 73-person ridership.

The Amtrak spokesman said legal questions surrounding the route's connections at St. Louis remain unresolved. The question there is whether the train can and will merge with the existing National Limited train or whether two trains will make the runs from that point and back.

The FRA spokeswoman said that key considerations in the designation of this route were the potential connections with trains to Chicago and a Houston-Denver train, plus the addition of 500,000 persons to the population served by the Amtrak network.

Price drop may be years away

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While the rate of consumer price increases is declining, Americans might wait many years and probably forever before seeing important, general declines in prices themselves.

Consumers know this instinctively and professional administrators see it in the numbers. "Let us not fool ourselves," said Treasury Secretary William E. Simon in commenting on that subject.

"We are still going to have a built-in rate of inflation that is going to be unacceptable and this is going to take years ... to bring back down," Simon said.

There will be some decreases. Cattle prices are still falling, and that probably means some lower beef prices next month. Even houses in some sections might be found at lower prices than a few months ago.

But don't look for any general price declines. If you value your present standard of living, in fact, you should wish against that eventuality, because in all probability it would mean a deep depression.

GM owners not told of defects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has accused General Motors of refusing to notify the owners of an estimated 816,000 older model automobiles of alleged safety-related defects in their cars.

The Department of Transportation's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said Monday it had filed suit in U.S. District Court here against the giant automaker seeking a total of $800,000 in civil penalties as well as injunctive relief.

One suit seeks to force GM to notify owners of 1965 and 1966 Chevrolets and 1966 Buicks built before March 28, 1966 that a fire hazard exists from allegedly faulty carburetor plugs in the Rochester Quadrajet carburetor. It estimated 375,000 vehicles were involved.

The second suit asks that GM be ordered to notify owners of 1965 through 1968 model Buick Electra 225s and Buick Wildcats and early production 1970 model Cadillacs (except El Dorados) that are equipped with cruise control that an alleged defect exists in the engine mounts.

Profit has little to do with prices

OSAGE BEACH, Mo. (AP) — Rep. Jerry Litton, D-Mo., says the amount of profit American farmers make has little to do with the price of food to the consumer.

"Divide the 212 million Americans into the average total net income of all farmers in America for the past four years and then divide this by 365 and you will be startled at the answer," Litton said.

"The answer is how much Americans would save on their food purchases if the farmers of America made no profit, no return on their investment and no return on their labor. The answer is about eight cents per person per day," he said.

Litton made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Missouri Agriculture Industries Council at the Lake of the Ozarks.

Litton, named recipient of the group's "outstanding agricultural man of the year" award, said farmers collected only $12 of the average $164 increase in a family's supply of groceries last year. "Most of the $12 the farmer got went for fertilizer, gasoline and other costs of production that have skyrocketed in the past year," he said.

Reserve Oilers lineman says he saw no drugs

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Solomon Freelon, a reserve guard with the Houston Oilers, told The Associated Press Wednesday night that he met the woman who claims to have delivered narcotics to numerous National Football League players and let her spend a night in his apartment.

But Freelon said she showed him no drugs and he accepted her story that she was a medical researcher from Ghana studying the relationship of water pollution to cancer.

"I didn't see any dope and she didn't have anything that looked like it carried dope," Freelon said. "That never entered my mind because she seemed too interested in water poisoning."

Freelon was the first NFL player to acknowledge publicly having had any contact with Roxie Ann Rice, the 19-year-old woman arrested Jan. 4 in St. Louis on charges of defrauding an innkeeper and of fraudulently using a credit card, reportedly stolen from Washington Redskins' defensive back Ken Houston.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat reported in today's edition that Ken Houston gave the St. Louis police a statement in which he, too, acknowledged having been in contact with Miss Rice.

Houston said a woman claiming to be from Africa stayed with him and his wife for two days in Reston, Va., after which a pocket calculator and a charge card were missing.

Houston said he met that woman through another who said her name was Pat, that she worked for a national magazine and that the publication wanted to do a story on him.

Miss Rice, who has allegedly passed herself off as a writer, doctor and medical researcher, was to undergo a lie detector test Thursday to evaluate her story, St. Louis police said.

A 39-page intra-departmental police memo in St. Louis quotes Miss Rice as saying she was recruited to transport briefcases containing what she believed to be narcotics to many NFL cities and that she became familiar with players and took orders and delivered drugs.

Police officials and spokesmen for a number of NFL teams have also refused to comment on the report or have denied knowledge of any of the woman's alleged activities.

Among the teams mentioned in the police memo are the Oilers, Redskins, St. Louis Cardinals, San Diego Chargers, Detroit Lions, Kansas City Chiefs and Cincinnati Bengals.

The NFL acknowledged Wednesday that an investigation is being made into these allegations but the league has refused to elaborate.

NU, OSU tied for Big 8 lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — You'd never believe it but it's true ... Nebraska and Oklahoma State were leading the Big Eight Conference basketball race today.

Both clubs scored home court victories Wednesday night, Nebraska striking down Oklahoma 68-61 and O-State whipping Missouri 94-75. Each has a 2-0 record.

Kansas, 18th ranked, was denied a share of the top spot when the Jayhawks were a victim of Iowa State's run-and-shoot bombardment, losing 96-81. The game left the two teams 1-1.

Kansas State routed the Buffs at Colorado 87-72 and is now 1-1. The Buffs tumbled all alone into the basement at 0-2.

The league's co-leaders had Hercle Ivy, top scorer in the conference, to thank for knocking the defending champion Jayhawks down the ladder. Ivy hit a career high 39 points, 17 of the Cyclones' final 21.

The Cyclones, playing at home, had all of their starters find the range for at least 10 points. Neither team ever led by more than six points, and the game was tied 45-45 at the half. Kansas' top scorer was Roger Morningstar with 18 points.

Jerry Fort, Nebraska's gem of a guard, wrecked the favored Sooners. He dumped in 24 points in the defensive battle that wasn't decided until the last two minutes when Oklahoma was guilty of four turnovers.

Oklahoma's Alvan Adams led all scorers with 28 points and hauled down 16 rebounds.

O-State displayed too much fast break against the Tigers. The Cowboys broke away late in the first half and led by 11 points at the intermission. Missouri never threatened seriously again.

J. C. Kincaide made 21 points for the Cowboys and Ronnie Daniel 18. Willie Smith sank 30 for Missouri. It's the first time since 1965 the Cowboys have won their first two conference tests.

Chuckie Williams and Mike Evans of Kansas State were too much for the hapless Buffs, who now have lost eight games in succession, a school record. Williams made 25 points and Evans 24.

Tony Lawrence was the best the Buffs had to offer. He canned 16. Colorado drew close at 54-52 with 11 minutes, 23 seconds left but Williams and Evans cut loose again, and it was all over.

Four Flyers lose total of $400

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers took to the ice Wednesday and lost $400.

But this time it wasn't National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell who took the money from the brawling Stanley Cup champions.

A sneak thief worked the team's locker room while the players worked out at the University of Pennsylvania rink.

Police said Tom Blado lost about $150, Rick MacLeish was victimized for $120, Andre Dupont was $80 poorer, and Orest Kindrachuk lost $50. Police said nothing else was taken.

Chiefs hire 49ers assistant

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Paul Wiggin, a defensive line coach for the San Francisco 49ers, was named head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs today.

Wiggin succeeds Hank Stram, the Chiefs' first and only head coach. Stram was fired Dec. 27 by Lamar Hunt, owner of the National Football League club here.

The Chiefs reportedly interviewed 18 to 20 candidates for the head coaching job and narrowed the field to three pro assistants. One of the other reported finalists, Monte Clark of the Miami Dolphins, was a teammate of Wiggin with the Cleveland Browns for five years.

"Paul Wiggin is one of the brightest people I have met in football," Hunt said at the news conference this morning. "He brings a record of success throughout his 18 years in pro football."

He was with San Francisco seven seasons as an assistant coach.

Wiggin, 40, played 11 years in the NFL, all of it as a defensive end with the Cleveland Browns.

He took charge of the 49ers overall defensive in 1974 in addition to coaching the defensive line. He joined the 49ers with head coach Dick Nolan prior to the 1968 season. He retired in 1967 after serving as captain of the Browns, who won the NFL Century Division title that year. He played in two pro bowls.

Wiggin played tackle at Stanford University.

Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller set for showdown at Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Golden Bear comes out of hibernation today.

And Jack Nicklaus suddenly, spectacularly, faces the greatest challenge since he subdued Arnold Palmer in a playoff for the 1962 U.S. Open Championship.

Since that time he has reigned as the premier in the tight little world of professional golf. He has gained a record 14 major championships. He has established a standard of excellence unmatched in history. He has won everything worth winning. He has assumed the role of the greatest competitor who has ever played the ancient game of golf.

He has been challenged before — by Palmer, by Lee Trevino, by Tom Weiskopf.

Each time he has put them away and demonstrated his superiority.

Now, in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, he faces the most severe test of his career.

It's Johnny Miller, the tall, slender, blond young man who — in recent weeks — has achieved a measure of success unattained by anyone — Ben Hogan or Palmer or Trevino or Gary Player or Weiskopf or Nicklaus himself.

He's buoyed by unmatched achievements in a record sweep of two Arizona tournaments, the best 72-hole score in 20 years, a fantastic 49 under par for two events, a stroke average of 65.4, a pair of 61s, a winning margin that totals 23 strokes in two tournaments.

He's bubbling with confidence, so confident that he talks of "a serenity that comes over me, it's the confidence of knowing that if you hit a bad shot it will still be pretty good."

He even had the temerity to beard the Bear.

"I hope that Jack rises to the challenge," Miller said.

And Jack, at home in Florida during Miller's first two triumphs, responded: "I've risen to the challenge before."

So it's Nicklaus vs. Miller, a confrontation that has caught the imagination of the golfing millions of the nation.

And, of course, it's possible that the head-to-head duel will fail to materialize. There are 166 other professionals in the field, most of whom are capable of winning — if Miller or Nicklaus fail to play to their potential.

In all, 168 professionals, each playing with an amateur partner, are chasing $215,000 in total prize money. They'll play one round each over three courses on the Monterey Peninsula, Cypress Point, Spyglass Hill and Pebble Beach before the final round over Pebble Beach.

Palmer, Trevino and Player are the only major names missing.

Miller's surge shot in golf's arm

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Miller's sub-par binge in the year's opening tournaments has given golf the biggest shot in the arm since Arld Palmer was staging his miracle finishes, and has sent historians thumbing through their record books.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Fred Corcoran. "I can't get on an elevator without somebody asking me about Miller's fantastic scoring and wondering if anybody has approached it in the past."

Corcoran is a natural target for such queries. A big, gray-haired Irishman out of Boston, he was the man who promoted the PGA tour into a million-dollar enterprise in the 1940s and he is currently director of the International Golf Association, sponsor of the World Cup.

"Miller's scoring at Phoenix and Tucson represents a world record for 144 holes in major competition," Corcoran said. "His 61 at Tucson was the lowest finishing round in history."

Miller won at Phoenix with a 24-under-par 260 and at Tucson with a 25-under-par 263, finishing 14 and nine strokes, respectively, over his nearest rivals.

"The 49 under par is indisputably a world record for eight rounds," the golf official added.

Corcoran acknowledged that there have been feats of similar magnitude by greats of the past, although none to match the two-week stretch by the stringbean flag-splitter from San Francisco.

"In 1945, Ben Hogan shot 65-69-63-64 — 261 in a PGA tournament at Portland," he said. "Ben was 27 under par and had a 14-stroke lead over his nearest rival, Byron Nelson."

"Two weeks later, Nelson shot 62-68-63-66—259 at Broadmoor in Seattle and won by 13 shots over Jug McSpaden.

"In 1940, Hogan won three 72-hole PGA events in two weeks — at Pinehurst, Greensboro and Asheville, N.C. — and was 34 under par. Of course, everyone recalls that Nelson won 19 PGA tour events in 1945, eleven of them in a row, for records that remain unbroken."

Nelson's average score for 120 rounds of golf that year was 68.33, which still stands in the PGA record book. The PGA 72-hole record is 257, shot by Mike Souchak in 1955 over the easy Breckenridge public course in San Antonio, Tex. Mike had a 60, which still stands as the recognized 18-hole mark and which he shares with others.

"There are courses for records just as there are ball parks for home runs," Corcoran said. "There have been some 59s but none officially recognized. McSpaden had a 59 in a pro-am at San Antonio in 1955. Sam Snead shot a 59 at Greenbrier in 1959. And Gary Player had a 59 in the Brazilian Open this season."

"But, to my mind, one of the greatest rounds was the 63 Miller shot to win the U.S. Open at Oakmont in 1973 — a great score on a great golf course. I don't think it will ever be equalled in the Open."

Maple Leafs again lose Borje Salming

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League have lost Borje Salming for the third time this season.

The defenseman, sidelined earlier this year with hand and heel injuries, will spend about a week in a hospital undergoing tests for a spot on his lung. It developed after he stopped a slapshot last Saturday in a game at Montreal.

Forrest Gregg hired as Browns head coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — Forrest Gregg, a salt-and-pepper-haired, 41-year-old disciple of the late Vince Lombardi, was named head coach of the Cleveland Browns Wednesday.

Gregg, who is taking his first head coaching assignment, said, "Lombardi greatly influenced me and it was a pleasure playing for him, but I'm not Vince Lombardi and I'm not going to try and be."

Drafted No. 2 in 1956 out of Southern Methodist University, Gregg became the mainstay of the Green Bay Packers' offensive line as Lombardi enjoyed his greatest successes with National Football League titles in 1961, 1962, 1965, 1966 and 1967.

In 1969, when Phil Bengtson became the Packers' head coach, Gregg was named a player-coach. He assumed the same dual role with the Dallas Cowboys and became a coach of the San Diego Chargers in 1972.

Gregg spent last season as the Browns' offensive line coach under Nick Skorich, who was fired shortly after the team ended the worst season in its 28-year history. Gregg said he has not decided who will make up his coaching staff.

"We'll be talking to all the present coaches in the next few days and those decisions will be made shortly," said Browns owner Art Modell.

Modell said Gregg was given a three-year contract, but he would not disclose details. Modell said Skorich has not decided whether he will remain in the club's front office.

Olympic construction work picks up

QUEBEC (AP) — Construction activity is picking up at the site of the 1976 Summer Olympics and so is a dispute between two government officials over financing the event.

The work force at the embattled Olympic site in Montreal was boosted to 500 Wednesday as 250 workers were rehired in an effort to speed construction for next year's target date. There were only 100 at work at the 70,000-seat main stadium Tuesday.

Work still was stalled at the nearby Olympic village site, however, while pile-driver operators seeking a shorter work week have been on strike since last week.

Claude Payette, stadium project director for a construction consortium, said work on the stadium is not back at full speed but that the work force should reach 800 by the weekend. Among the 250 rehired Wednesday were about 25 iron workers, among 1,200 whose eight-week strike had stalled construction at the ill-fated site.

About 125 iron workers were employed at the Olympic site before the strike. The Quebec government ended the strike by ordering a two-stage, 85 cent an hourly wage increase for all construction workers in the province.

While things were looking up at the Olympic site, Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal and Quebec Finance Minister Raymond Garneau were at odds in Quebec over the use of lottery funds to finance the Games.

Garneau told the Quebec national assembly that he felt lottery revenue from outside Quebec province should not be used for anything but administrative expenses of the Games' organizing committee (COJO). But Mayor Drapeau suggested a "loose interpretation" of the original agreement concerning use of the funds.

COJO figures released at a hearing of the standing committee on municipal affairs Tuesday showed that lottery revenue is expected to reach $200 million. It was originally estimated at $32 million.

"If COJO ends up with a $200 million surplus in lottery revenue and Montreal cannot use that money to help pay for construction costs, the situation would be absurd," said the mayor.

However, Garneau said that he and other members of the Quebec government had given their word that the revenue would not be used for Olympic construction. The minister said he would not tolerate any violation or alteration of the promise that he had made to governments of other provinces.

"It's a question of honor," he said.

He said, however, that revenue generated by the lottery in Quebec was not part of any such agreement and could be applied to any part of the Olympic budget.

College basketball

Maryland upset

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

If there's anything to this meek inheriting the earth stuff, a case can be made for college basketball.

The so-called "weaker" teams are rising up with a vengeance this year.

UCLA, North Carolina State and other longtime dominators have been brought back to the field — and Clemson continued the trend by bouncing No. 3 Maryland 83-82 Wednesday night.

"When you're No. 3 in the nation, they come after you like Tigers and that's what Clemson did tonight," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell. "We got subpar performances from some of our players on offense and defense. But it was a great win for Clemson. We've just got to work a little bit harder."

Clemson's victory underscored the changing balance of power in the Atlantic Coast Conference, whose Big Three through recent years have been North Carolina State, Maryland and North Carolina. Those three bullies have lost a total of eight games so far this season.

North Carolina State, the defending national champion, has already been beaten twice — including a shocker to Wake Forest earlier in the year. Just last weekend, UCLA was taken by a supposedly weaker Stanford team, leaving just two major unbeaten in the country — Indiana and Louisville.

Kansas, the nation's 18th-ranked team, became another upset victim along with Maryland Wednesday night. The Jayhawks, who made the NCAA championship semifinals last year, were beaten by Iowa State 96-81. In other action, sixth-ranked Alabama turned back Georgia Tech 97-80 and No. 14 North Carolina stopped Virginia 85-70.

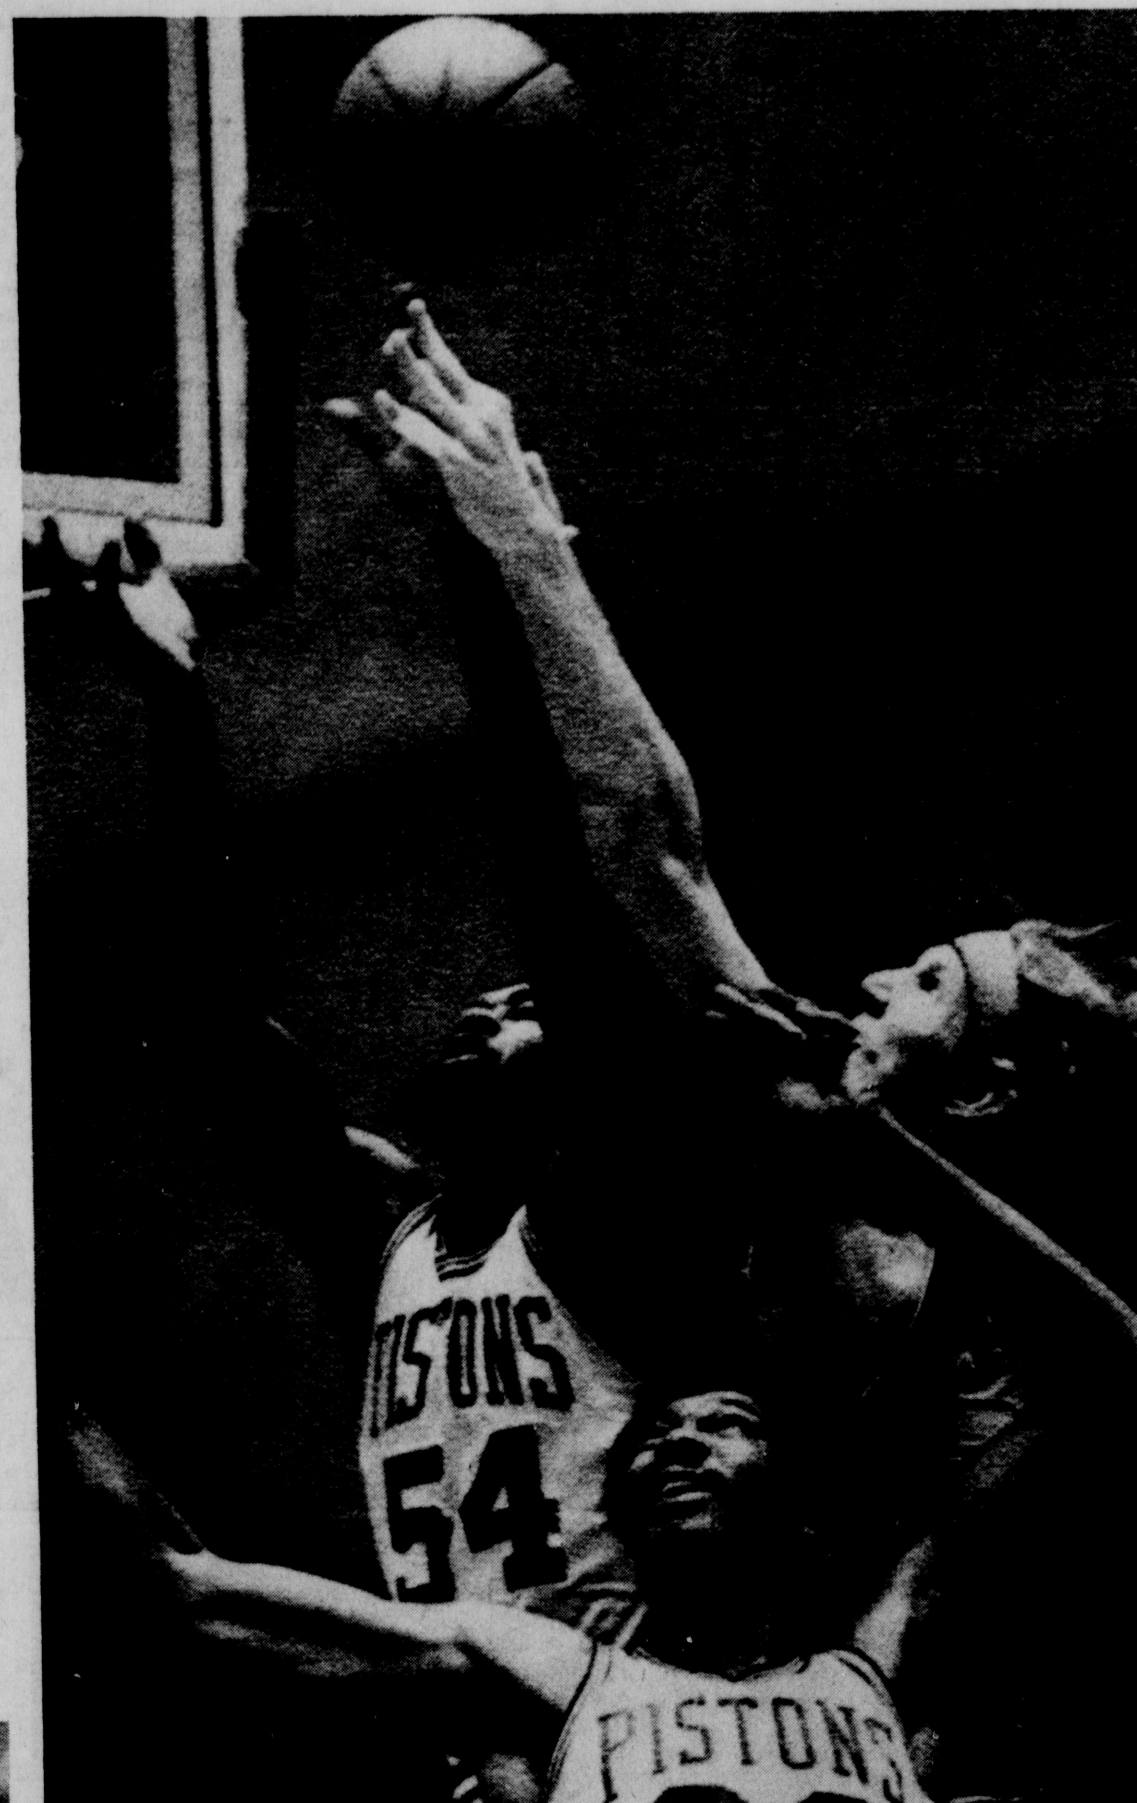

Wayne "Tree" Rollins and Stan Rome combined for 46 points to lead Clemson's upset of Maryland. Skip Wise sank a free throw with 11 seconds left to clinch it for Clemson.

Rollins, a 7-foot center, scored 24 points and grabbed 17 rebounds, while Rome had 22 points on 10 of 11 shots from the floor. Rollins led the scoring and rebounding for both teams.

Charles Cleveland scored 26 points, mostly on long jump shots, as Alabama crushed Georgia Tech. It was the 12th victory against two defeats for the Crimson Tide, which has won six of its last seven games.

With burly Mitch Kupchak controlling the backboards, North Carolina opened a big early lead and withstood a Virginia comeback to beat the Cavaliers. Kupchak scored 28 points and grabbed 15 rebounds. He hit all eight shots in the first half when the Tar Heels held leads of up to 20 points. For the game, the Tar Heels shot 65 per cent. Hercie Ivy poured in a career-high 36 points, including 17 of Iowa State's final 21, to power the Cyclones past Kansas in a Big Eight Conference game. Neither team led by more than six points, and the score was tied 12 times, before Ivy went on a late rampage and Iowa State took control of the rebounding to pull away. Elsewhere, it was Syracuse 62, Temple 57; Villanova 88, Cornell 82; Fordham 75, Army 67; Pitt 96, Rollins 65; Manhattan 87, St. Francis, N.Y., 76; Kansas State 87, Colorado 72; Seton Hall 72, St. John's, N.Y., 67; Jacksonville 87, Hofstra 68 and Boston College 103, Yale 78.

Reaching out

Portland Trailblazers' Bill Walton (32) reaches over Detroit's Howard Porter (54) and Jim Davis (20) for a first-period rebound in Wednesday night's National Basketball Association action in Detroit. Walton got the ball, but fouled Porter on the play. Walton scored 25 points, but the Blazers lost the game, 96-94.

Roberts, Kiner top candidates for Hall

Bulletin

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Kiner, seven-time National League home run champion, was elected into Baseball's Hall of Fame today in his last chance in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Kiner was the only player who received enough votes to be voted into the Hall.

Headed for Hall of Fame?

Robin Roberts (right), winner of 286 games during his 19-year career, and Ralph Kiner, seven-time National League home run champion, are considered as the prime candidates for election into Baseball's Hall of Fame.

(AP Wirephoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — When Robin Roberts pitched for the Philadelphia Phillies he had the full support of his teammates. He had similar backing today from one of his teammates in his bid to be elected into Baseball's Hall of Fame.

"They ought to ask the players about Robin, more specifically, the hitters, the ones that played against him and the ones who played with him," said former Phils outfielder Richie Ashburn, prior to the announcement by the Baseball Writers Association of America on the results of its balloting for the Hall of Fame.

"When Robin pitched, that was the day the bullpen rested — he almost always finished what he started," continued Ashburn, now a sports columnist for the Philadelphia Bulletin and a broadcaster for the Phillies.

Ashburn noted that when the durable, right-handed Roberts was pitching for Philadelphia from 1948-61, the National League was loaded with such renowned hitters as Stan Musial, Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Ralph Kiner, Roberto Clemente, Ernie Banks and Duke Snider.

And, "Robby dominated the league in pitching," said Ashburn.

Musial and the late Clemente already have been inducted into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. Mays and Banks have not yet been eligible under the rule which states that players must be retired for five years before gaining entrance. Aaron is the only still active player among the group, and Kiner and Snider, along with Roberts and 34 former stars, were among those the BBWAA voted upon this year.

Roberts and Kiner, the National League's home run leader or co-leader in each of his first seven years in the major leagues with the Pittsburgh Pirates starting in 1946, were considered the prime candidates for election into the Hall. They finished third and fourth in last year's balloting, behind Mantle and pitcher Whitey Ford.

Kenon put back on squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Forward Larry Kenon of the New York Nets, bumped recently from the American Basketball Association All-Star Game, has been reinstated by ABA Commissioner Tedd Munchak to the East squad for the Jan. 28 contest in San Antonio.

off the team by Stew Johnson in order that Memphis have a player on the squad.

Munchak, however, made an unprecedented ruling Wednesday, saying that "Kenon was voted to the team and deserves to play in the game."

"We have a rule that each club must be represented, but I don't feel it should be at the expense of depriving a player who has been picked by the media."

The addition of Kenon will give the East 11 players, including three of his Nets' teammates — starting forward Julius Erving, the only unanimous choice, and reserves Billy Paulitz, a center, and Brian Taylor, a guard.

It will be the first time that one team will have four representatives in the game. And Kevin Loughery of the Nets is the East team's coach.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida State basketball Coach Hugh Durham is upset about a schedule that has his team playing Canisius in Buffalo, N.Y., Saturday night and New Mexico in Albuquerque on Monday night.

"It's a foul-up, a real foul-up," Durham said Wednesday.

Asked who was responsible, Durham replied: "I am. I made the schedule."

KCTV station

releases Dawson

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Quarterback Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs is no longer a sports reporter for KMBC-TV.

Dawson confirmed Wednesday night that he has been replaced by Don Fortune.

"There is a situation now where the station needs a guy with a strong identity 12 months a year," Dawson said, adding that he was unable to work at the station full time because he has another year on his football contract.

Dawson said he is still under contract with the station but his future assignments "will be at their discretion."

four trumps and South would have been helpless. South could have guarded against all four in the West hand by the simple expedient of leading his queen of trumps. East would have shown out and later on South would have been able to lead through West's 10-9-5 and pick up the suit. South would still have had some slight problems, but there were any number of ways to avoid the loss of more than one diamond trick.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

It didn't take South more than 10 seconds to chuck his contract out the window. He grabbed his ace of spades, led the three of trumps and rose with dummy's jack after West followed with the five spot. It did take him quite a while to play the rest of the hand, but since he had no way to avoid the loss of two trumps, a spade and a diamond, all that followed was a wasted effort. South blamed bad luck. In one respect it was bad luck. A 4-0 trump break occurs just about 10 per cent of the time. South's bad play was that he failed to guard against the actual 4-0 break. Predict upturn in auto sales

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto makers disclose mid-January sales figures today, the first to reflect the industry's new rebate program, and analysts predict they will show a substantial upturn. But no one is predicting the end of the longest auto sales slump since World War II. Sales for the Jan. 11-20 period were expected to be no more than 140,000 cars, compared with 155,000 in the same period a year ago. Volume then was the slowest for a mid-January in a dozen years due to the energy crisis. Sales for the first 10 days of January were the lowest on record for the period, 93,235. Sales for the Jan. 11-20 period reflect in part the impact of rebate programs designed to spur sales of new models, but many of the discount moves came too late for their effect to be felt strongly. In the two weeks since Chrysler began paying rebates of up to $400 on selected models, the other makers and more than a score of automotive supply and related firms have started similar programs. Large and small firms are offering rebates to their employees, banks have offered to cut interest rates on new car loans. The Detroit Red Wing hockey club said Wednesday anyone who buys a new car from an area dealer by Feb. 28 will get two free tickets to home games. Because of the 16-month sales slump, production lines at eight car plants are idle this week and 228,000 hourly employees of a total auto production workforce of 685,000 are on layoff. GM said Wednesday that all but three of its U.S. car assembly plants and all of its truck plants will operate next week. Shift reductions and production cutbacks will leave 93,000 GM employees on indefinite layoff by the end of the month. GM, Ford and AMC are offering rebates ranging from $200 to $600 on specified small cars purchased from dealer stocks by Feb. 8. Chrysler's program ends Feb. 16.

Kelley prohibited from destroying F.B.I. files

WASHINGTON (A) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says he cannot legally purge the agency's files of derogatory and unproven allegations against members of Congress. In an interview Wednesday, Kelley said he has no plans either to suggest or to oppose legislative changes restricting the future collection of such material or allowing destruction of that already in the files. "I can only say we abide by the law and will abide by any restrictive legislation," Kelley said. "I'm willing to do what's good for the country — that may sound trite but that's exactly the way I feel about it."

Kelley and other officials noted that the FBI, like all government agencies, cannot destroy official records without specific written approval from national archivist James B. Rhoads. Kelley gave no indication that he would seek such approval.

Questioned Wednesday night, Rhoads' deputy, James E. O'Neill, agreed that present laws would not permit the destruction of most records kept by the FBI on members of Congress and other citizens. The law requires government agencies to keep most official records and defines an official record as "anything made a record by any agency of the federal government in the normal course of business," O'Neill said.

Federal regulations require that officials of the National Archives carry out several examinations of material an agency wishes to destroy. A House Judiciary subcommittee has scheduled hearings beginning Jan. 30 on the FBI practice of keeping information about members of Congress. The subcommittee may consider legislative changes.

Kelley acknowledged in the interview that some of the unproven allegations in the files deal with the personal lives of members of Congress. He said he has not researched the voluminous files to determine how many senators and House members are mentioned.

The director noted that the files contain data on congressmen who have been the subjects of criminal investigations and on those who have been considered for other federal jobs. The files also contain 22 years' worth of biographical and campaign material on congressmen which agents gathered from public sources in a program designed to acquaint FBI officials with new congressmen. L. Patrick Gray III stopped the program when he was acting director in 1972, but the law thwarted his efforts to destroy the material.

In addition, allegations often volunteered to the FBI by a host of tipsters usually are kept in a general correspondence file if they have no bearing on a criminal investigation. Kelley vowed that such information never will be used to blackmail congressmen or misused in any other way as long as he runs the FBI. "There is not now any misuse," he declared. "I'm not going to speak about what is in the past. That's going to be brought out in the hearings" when the subcommittee questions officials who served under the late J. Edgar Hoover. But Kelley said he has found no record of abuse of the files during the 48-year Hoover era.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Funeral services have been scheduled for Friday for the Rev. Oscar L. Huber, 81, a Roman Catholic priest who administered the last rites of the church to former President John F. Kennedy.

The priest died Tuesday of a heart attack.

On Nov. 22, 1963, Father Huber was watching television in Dallas when he and another priest received the bulletin that Kennedy had been shot while in a motorcade.

He went immediately to Parkland Memorial Hospital, where the President was taken, and shortly after 1 p.m. entered the hospital's emergency room to administer the last rites.

In later years, the native Missourian disputed an account related by author William Manchester in the book, "Death of a President," which said he had informed reporters of Kennedy's death.

"I answered that I did not know and that they would have to wait for an announcement," he maintained in later interviews. "I obeyed the request of the Secret Service agent."

Father Huber had, however, also acknowledged later that he administered only a short form of rites to the stricken President and said this was so "since he was apparently dead."

Roped on the circus

Kathy Martinez, who's not even two years old, expresses this view as she hangs from a rope ladder prior to a performance of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus in St. Petersburg, Fla., recently. Kathy's father, Don, is an aerialist with the circus. (AP Wirephoto)

Colson claims Hunt passed information to CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House aide Charles W. Colson says that convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt passed information to the CIA for nine months after the agency claims it cut off relations with Hunt, two sources report.

The sources said Tuesday night that, according to Colson, Hunt delivered sealed envelopes and packages to Richard Ober. Ober has been identified by other sources as the CIA counterintelligence officer who headed a unit designed to monitor any connections between domestic radicals and foreigners during the Nixon administration.

In a probe spurred by allegations in The New York Times that Ober's unit conducted illegal domestic surveillance, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will ask former CIA Director Richard M. Helms today to explain apparent discrepancies in his sworn statements on the CIA's domestic activities.

Meanwhile, Senate leaders continue to discuss the membership of a proposed select committee to investigate the CIA, FBI and other U.S. intelligence agencies.

Speaking to Sens. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., and Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., Colson said that he suspected

Hunt's envelopes contained tapes and other material relating to operations of the White House plumbers unit, the sources said.

Colson also said Ober passed the information to Helms and that he continued until late May 1972. The CIA has said it stopped providing Hunt aid for Colson's projects on the plumbers unit on Aug. 27, 1971.

The sources stressed that the two senators, both of whom served on the Senate Watergate Committee, had obtained no independent confirmation of Colson's assertions.

Spokesmen for the two senators confirmed Tuesday night that they had requested the meeting Monday with Colson and that he was brought from Ft. Holabird, Md., to the federal courthouse in Alexandria, Va., for the session.

Colson is serving one to three years in prison after pleading guilty to obstruction of justice for attempting to defame Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

Helms, now ambassador to Iran, will testify today in closed session about a statement he made to the same committee nearly two years ago denying any knowledge of a White House request for information on the antiwar movement.

In recent days Helms has acknowledged in sworn testimony that the CIA set up a counterintelligence group to analyze information on American radical groups in response to concerns expressed by Presidents Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson that disturbances at home may have been influenced from abroad.
